DANCER'S BODY DISCOVERED BY FRENCH POLICE

Disappearance of Pretty Jean De Koven, 22,
Is Solved

SLAYER BREAKS, MAKES CONFESSION

Also Admits Killing Four Men Because He Needed Money

(By Associated Press)
VERSAILLES, France, Dec. 9.—
The body of pretty 22-year-old Jean De Koven, Brooklyn dancer missing since last July, was found buried under the porch of a St. Cloud villa to which police were directed by a 29-year-old German emigre.

The emigre, police said, confessed slaying her and four men because he needed money.

The body of Miss DeKoven was found under water in two feet of hard clay. Diggers first found a white leather pocketbook, half open and from which protruded a fountain pen and pencil and some letters, all described as having belonged to the victim.

Fled Military Service
The police said the confessed slayer was Eugene Weidmann who had come to France last March to escape German military service.
He led investigators to the suburban villa outside Paris, saying that two of his men victims also were buried there.

Some of her jewelry and money were found in the house, according to police.

Weidmann, breaking down after hours of questioning, was quoted as telling police he kidnapped Miss DeKoven July 23 and took her to the villa, strangling her to death
there next day.

Among Weidmann's male victims,
police said they learned, was a German Jew, Arthur Frommer, who once shared a prison cell in Germany with the killer.

Police said the motive in all five murders was robbery.

The strange disappearance of Miss DeKoven last July 23 created a major mystery which baffled French investigators for months.
She was last seen alive walking out of the Studio hotel in the Rue Vieux Colombier where she lived with her aunt, Mrs. Ida Sackheim.

Police, tracing the slimmest of clues, learned she had spent $100 in travelers checks. The hunt was confused later by demands for her ransom but police never succeeded in finding the sender of these ransom demands.

Agent's Body Found First
It was the discovery of the rental agent's body in a cellar of the villa that led investigators into the baffling DeKoven case.

That gruesome find put authorities on the trail of a German who had made an appointment with the rental agent, Raymond Lesobre, to inspect the vacant villa as a possible tenant.

It was a rendezvous with violent death for the rental agent.
Detectives finally located the German, Eugene Weidmann, living in St. Cloud. Three detectives were dispatched yesterday afternoon to arrest him.

He put up a struggle. There was a short pistol duel in which two of the officers were wounded. They overpowered Weidmann, however, and took him to headquarters for questioning in connection with the murders.

WARE CITY TO HEAR GREEN, A.F.O.L. CHIEF

Address Scheduled Monday Features Jap Goods Boycott

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 9.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is scheduled to speak here Monday as the highlight of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters' boycott campaign against goods from Japan.

His address will precede a huge parade, bonfire of Japanese-manufactured merchandise collected in the boycott campaign, and a valley-wide demonstration urging a ban on all goods in the district bearing the Tokyo label.

James M. Duffy, brotherhood president, revealed that Green had consented to appear here, before he left Tuesday for Washington to participate in the hearings on the Walsh-Healy labor bill.

Worked In Mine At 16
Green rose from the job of coal miner at 16 to presidency of the most powerful labor group in the history of the nation.

He has been in the headlines consistently in his battle with John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, for supremacy in the American labor movement.

From president of the Ohio district mine workers union in 1910 at 33 years of age, he became international secretary-treasurer of the union and then fourth vice president and a member of the executive council of the federation he now heads.

His rise continued apace and in 1924, when the council met in grief over the death of Samuel Gompers, it selected Green to carry on. At the next convention the Ohio-born unionist was elected overwhelmingly to the presidency.

He is a staunch foe of communism and once aspired to be a Bastard pastor. He is 64 and was born in Coshocton, O., a town he still calls home.

He is described as a striking figure, deep chested and broad shoulders.

HOUSE DEBATES RELIEF PLANS

Consider Million-Dollar Measure for Allocation to Counties On Basis Of Need

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9.—Having approved bills providing about $3-$500,000 for relief during the remainder of this year, the house prepared today to consider another measure adding a million dollars.
The bill would appropriate that sum for allocation to counties by the state control board on the basis of need. It would be returned to the state out of future sales tax allotments set aside for relief next year.

Recommended by Davey
Recommended by Gov. Martin L.
Davey as part of his relief program, the $1,000,000 would be the extent of this year's provisions for local subdivisions under the plan. The remainder of the program would set aside $7,500,000 for next year with the $1,000,000 deducted.

The house also was prepared to consider a bill giving tax levies for right to vote special tax levies for relief by 55 per cent instead of the present 65 per cent required vote.
This measure represents a compromise between urban and rural members of the house taxation committee, the former demanding only a majority requirement and the latter insisting on retention of the 65 per cent requirement.

Chief among relief bills approved yesterday by the house and now awaiting senate action, was one authorizing counties to issue bonds against $2,250,000 to $2,500,000 surpluses in sales and utility excise tax revenues over the amount required to retire outstanding bonds next April. Others would make balances in various relief and flood funds available.

Deducted From Future Funds
The $190,000 remaining in flood funds in Ohio river county treasuries would be deducted from future allocation of relief funds. Counties not using their balances in the sales and utility tax funds for relief this year could use it to match state grants next year.

It is not anticipated the senate will convene this week to consider any of the relief measures sent to it by the house.

Salem City Lodge To Install Officers

Virgil Rakestraw will be installed as master of Salem City lodge No.
698 at ceremonies Monday night in the Masonic temple.

James Giffin will be installing officer, Frank Nowell, grand marshal and Henry Hurlburt, chaplain.
Other officers to be installed include: John Carpenter as senior clerk; Joseph Brian, junior warden; George Poland, senior deacon; and Dwight Hang, junior deacon. Lunch will be served.

POTTERY PLANT AT SALINEVILLE SWEEP BY FIRE

Wellsville Sends Pumper
And Men To Help Fight Blaze

SALINEVILLE, Dec. 9.—A $50,000
fire gutted the old John Winterich pottery here last night, while 30 volunteer firemen and "regulars" of the Salineville and Wellsville departments battled the blaze in zero weather.

Origin of the fire was not determined. It was discovered at 7 p. m., while a group of about 15 men were at work in the shop.

The pottery, Salineville's major industry, was purchased by Canton interests several weeks ago in a reorganization plan. It had been named the Bahl-Leek Co., and John Bahl, of Canton, was placed in charge as general manager.

At one time 235 men were employed at the pottery.

Some Departments Saved
Salineville firemen laid two lines of hose and the Wellsville fire department sent its pumper in an attempt to keep the flames from spreading to the dipping room, the glaze kiln, warehouse and decorating departments. These were saved.

However, the fire caused extensive damage to the slip room, boiler room, clay shop, green room, bisque kiln, kiln shed and part of the bisque warehouse.

Loss in materials alone totaled $10,000.

The power company's newly-installed equipment at the plant, including transformer, also was destroyed by the fire.

Leaders Spur
HOUSING BILL

Hopeful of Completing Farm Debate, Begin Maneuvering for Administration Program

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—House and senate leaders, hopeful of completing farm debate this week, started maneuvering today for prompt consideration of the administration's vast housing program.

In the senate this involved the ticklish problem of temporarily sidetracking the politically powerful campaign for immediate enactment of the anti-lynching bill.

Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.), co-author of the anti-lynching measure said he would not object to delaying debate for a day or two in order to pass the housing bill.

May Set Definite Date
There was some talk of setting a definite date next session for a vote on the anti-lynching bill, but southern senators were expected to block that procedure.

The wage-hour bill comes up automatically in the house next Monday, but leaders intend to follow it with the housing legislation, which is designed to stimulate residential construction.

The house labor committee met this morning to consider proposed new alterations to the wage-hour
bill which some legislators said would jeopardize its chances for passage at this session.

Although committed to a change giving jurisdiction over the measure to a single administrator in the labor department instead of to an independent board, the committee Democrats faced an internal battle over an accompanying proposal to place broad powers over wages and hours in the hands of voluntary boards.

Business College
Group Hears Talk

An illustrated talk by Mrs. R. E.
Smucker was heard by students of the Salem Business college at their weekly chapel hour yesterday.

Mrs. Smucker told of her recent trip through Egypt and the Holy Land and illustrated the talk with two reels of motion pictures taken on the tour.

Talking pictures were shown prior to Mrs. Smucker's address.
The program was in charge of Paul Reed, Mary Shriver and Mary Katscher.

Programs are being sponsored each Wednesday morning at the college by different groups of students under the direction of Miss Kathleen Richards, head of the English department. This new feature of school work has thus far proved quite popular with the students.

SITKA, Alaska.—Establishment of a strong U. S. air squadron at Sitka, Alaska, has focused international attention on the strategic position which Alaska occupies.
Strong Japanese protest against U. S. naval activity along the northwest peninsula, coupled with friction between American fishermen and the Jap Pacific fleet, give added significance to the entire Alaskan question.

Disregarding Japan's objections to the Alaska airfield, the U. S.
navy has placed six patrol bombers and 70 men at Sitka, with instructions to survey the fog-bound northwest coast.

Furthermore, to aid in a possible future northwest defense, a government weather station has been built on lonely Unalaska island, one of the Aleutian archipelago—a chain which stretches like a whip-lash across the Bering sea, westward towards the Soviet coast and Japan.

FLOOD CONTROL PLAN APPROVED

Wellsville Will Build $250,000 Wall Under U. S. Program

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Dec. 9.—The Ohio valley had the "go ahead" signal from the federal government today for a $5,000,000 program to stem the flood-tides of the Ohio river.

An appropriation of $24,877,000
was approved by President Roosevelt for five states along the lower river valley in a program to prevent the recurrence of the record January flood of 1937.

A total of $5,000,000 was allowed from relief and war department funds for expenditure during the year ending June 30 and the remainder must come from new appropriations.

The appropriation included $845-
100 for Ohio projects at Ironton, Wellsville and Cincinnati. Protective flood walls and dikes have been outlined by the cities and await the final plans of army engineers in Washington.

"I expect to start construction as soon as plans are completed, the rights-of-way obtained and the weather becomes suitable," said Lieut. Col. D. O. Elliott, U. S. district engineer here.

Col. Elliott said drafts of the Ohio projects would be forwarded in a few days by Col. William A.
Snow of the army engineers in Washington, who announced the President's action.

Rights-of-way for a $250,000 flood wall running 2,200 feet have been obtained by Wellsville under a proposal of Pittsburgh army engineers who conducted a survey along the route. Test holes were bored along the proposed flood wall site for a study of subsoil conditions, engineers reported.

The program calls for an earthworks 70 feet wide at the base and 14 feet high to hold back a crest of 54 feet. The river reached a 57.05 stage last year.

Hold Installation For Perry Officers

Past Master C. D. Steele, installing officer, was in charge of the installation of Master E. M. Jenkins and other officers of Perry lodge No. 185, F. & A. M., last night.

W. R. Finley was installing marshal and H. H. Wilkinson chaplain for the ceremonies. The installation was attended by about 150 Masons and their ladies from Salem and surrounding towns.

Other officers are: Senior warden, Frank West, junior warden, H.
W. Veagley, treasurer, F. R. Pow;
secretary, W. G. Aldom; senior deacon, M. A. Kelly; junior deacon, E.
C. Patten; tyler, A. C. Prethy; trustee for three years, A. H. Schropp; director on Masonic Temple Co.
board, Frank West.

A past master's jewel was presented to the retiring master, A.
H. Schropp, by C. M. Wilson. A program of music followed an address by Dr. C. L. Smith. Harold Babb, accompanied by Mrs. Babb, sang two numbers and John W.
Hundertmark, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Hundertmark, played two violin selections.

Lunch was served during the social hour.

Perry lodge will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening for degree work. All members are asked to attend.

If It's a Biblical Problem, Court Will Now Have the Proof

Willis R. Hole of N. Elsworth ave., yesterday presented a Bible to common pleas court at Lisbon in memory of his brother, Judge W. W. Hole.

"But, there's a story behind it all."

During the recent Borgwardt murder trial, one of the defense attorneys referred to a scripture in the Bible.

Nothing was said until the trial had ended.

Then several persons who had been in the courtroom informed the lawyer his scripture reference was not accurate.

Hole, close at hand, inter-ceded for the attorney, saying the scripture had been quoted correctly, just as it is in the Bible.

To prevent future Biblical arguments in court, the Salem man decided to present the court attaches with a Bible, to be kept in court.

Hole's brother was judge on the common pleas bench from 1900 to 1910.

KIPKE TO LOSE MICHIGAN JOB

Grid Coach's Contract Will Not Be Renewed, Board Says; Successor Not Selected

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 9.—
The University of Michigan board in control of athletics notified
Head Football Coach Harry G.
Kipke today that his contract would not be renewed next year.

His contract expires June 1, 1938.
The board announced that it had gone on record in a resolution yesterday as disapproving its renewal.

On the identity of Kipke's successor, the board replied it had authorized its officers to interview
"qualified coaches."

The board also announced that the fate of Kipke's assistants would rest with the new coach, when he is selected.

Kipke, who is president of the National Football Coaches' association, said that "it is all news to me."

Previously, discussing what he would do if ousted at Michigan, he said that he had received several offers to coach and also had opportunities to enter business.

Ex-East Rochester Postmaster Dies

EAST ROCHESTER, Dec. 9.—
John F. McDonald, 81, former East
Rochester postmaster, died early Wednesday morning at his home here of complications following a long illness.

Mr. McDonald was born at Glasgow, near Wellsville, in April, 1856, but had spent practically all of his life in East Rochester. He served as postmaster for 20 years and was active in Columbiana county politics. He was a member of the Minerva Presbyterian church.

Surviving him are his wife, Eva,
and one brother, George, of Minerva. W. P. Davis of Salem is a nephew.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Methodist Episcopal church in East Rochester. Burial will be at Minerva.

Friends may call at the home any time.

JAPS PUSHING NANKING DRIVE

Predict Capture of Chinese City Within 24 Hours

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Dec. 9.—Japanese troops were reported to have entered the southeast gate of Nanking today, and the Japanese army spokesman predicted capture of the city within 24 hours.

The spokesman declared Chinese troops were resisting and added that there would be a major battle if the resistance continued. He declined to state whether Japanese expected the defenders to fight to the last or surrender in order to escape a heavy toll of life and property.

Domel (Japanese) news agency said observers in airplanes saw the tanks entering the southeast city gate. Domel also said Japanese had entered Wuhu, Yangtze river port 60 miles upstream from Nanking.

Chinese artillery firing from strongly fortified Purple mountain which overlooks Nanking kept Japanese from a frontal attack on the eastern wall of the city where latest reports were that 14 Americans remained.

Shanghai itself heard the boom of anti-aircraft guns after days of quiet. The Japanese flagship idu-mo fired 25 shells into overcast skies. Japanese and foreign reports were that two Chinese planes had flown over the ship.

Japanese said their army and navy airforces made heavy attacks on Nanking and surrounding territory throughout the day to back up Japanese armies encircling the city.

Army fliers were said to have raided Nanchang, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was reported in residence.

Wuhu had been the object of Japanese attacks for 24 hours.
Many fires were reported raging
there.

Columbiana Mayor Names Committees

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 9.—Two committees prepared today for duties assigned them by Mayor Arthur Myers.

The mayor named Harvey Hisey fire department chief, chairman of a committee to inspect chimneys in residences and business buildings against fire hazards. This will be the first inspection of this kind here in seven years.

John Robinson, Clarence Shontz and Ray Fisher, councilmen, were assigned to the auditing committee.
They must complete the city audit report and submit it by Jan. 1, before the new administration is seated.

Few Mishaps Occur Despite Ice Coat

Despite icy streets in Salem, few traffic accidents have been reported to police since Monday. Apparently motorists are being more careful.

city at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday, Carl Knoblock of Warren suffered a deep gash over his right eye and another on his nose when his automobile skidded and went into a ditch. He was treated at the Central Clinic, State Patrolman C. W.
Cale reported.

THE MUSIC MASTER

The administration's lullaby chorus now includes the secretarial trio of Morgenthau, Roper and Wallace, besides Sen. Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee. At the top of their voices they've tried to convey soothingly to the people that the new deal won't permit any more drastic tinkering with organic functions of business.

How successful have they been?

So far, not very successful. The chorus is all tenor and bass. Someone needs to take a lead. There's one voice for that part—The Voice. Franklin D. Roosevelt knows the music the new deal is going to sing—or the country hopes he does. In any event, he is the only man alive who can interpret his mind with final authority.

When Mr. Roosevelt had been in office about a year he made it plain that he was improvising a social revolution as he went along, though he had been elected as a budget paring moderate. The country picked up his tune and followed along as best it could.

If Mr. Roosevelt now is ready to change the tune he must do it with his own voice. He can't improvise a counter-revolution by letting his chorus croon lullabies while he is still holding the score of "I Wish You Were Dead, You Rascal You."

HONEST DOUBT

The solid element in discussion of Ohio's ability to begin drawing on its unemployment insurance account a year before the two year period of accumulation ends is the social security board's doubt that Gov. Davey's proposal is administratively feasible.

The machinery for registering claims has not been set up. Existing personnel, as represented by Ohio State Employment Service, which is to perform this service ultimately, is inadequate to do the job at present. Incidentally, this department's appropriation for 1938 still is pending in the legislature. As the social security board points out, administrative machinery probably could not be set up properly short of at least six months, or not before next July.

The board's doubt of the feasibility of trying to do a hurry-up, slam-bang job is obviously honest. Naturally, it wants to avoid any action which would give the social security act a black eye at the outset. It is equally natural for the state, as represented by political leaders, to want to get its hands on the money in the unemployment insurance account.

Here again, it seems, the question of translating good intentions into good performance has bobbed up—the albatross which the new deal seems fated to wear around its neck.

SELF HELP

Cach George E. Gauthier, whose Ohio Wesleyan football team had a spotty season, is telling Cleveland alumni what's wrong. He says, for instance, there is increasing interest in social activities on the campus at Delaware, Fraternity houses, for instance, wouldn't change the time for their evening meal to accommodate football players this year, because "that would make the fraternity boys late in meeting their dates at the girls dormitories."

This testimony will be added to this department's growing collection, all tending to prove that while alumni and coaches are arguing frantically about the necessity for "getting in there and winning every game," which is, of course, a mathematical impossibility, the college boys of the nation are solving the problem in their own boyish, irresponsible way. Football, they are saying to one another, is a game, not an obligation. When it ceases to be fun it isn't a game any more, so why bother with it under those circumstances?

Another argument in favor of returning to the good old horse and buggy days is that picking up horseshoes brought good luck—at least we thought it did.

With 200,000,000 bushels carry-over of wheat, the service of a few supersalesmen might relieve the situation.

It appears more and more as if the work of the special session of Congress will be much less than the talk of the members.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, December 10

The lunar aspects for this day promise very lively conditions, probably instigated by the arrival of sudden and surprising good news. This may entail some unexpected expenditures in financing, an important journey, some change or a removal, but all should be justified and profitable. Contracts, writings and publicity have important places in the day's activities.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a bit of hasty and surprising news, which may demand a sudden journey, a removal or another change. It may call for unexpected expense, but will be justified by the profitable culminations. Writings, contracts and publicity may figure in these.

A child born on this day may have original talents, with skill in novel and ingenious lines. Its writing ability may run to innovations or some sort of unique creations.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—With the possible exception of Paris, no city is more tolerant of high-jinking visitors than New York. This municipal affability was emphasized during the capering of the legionnaires last Fall. The boys fairly tore the town apart to see what made it tick.

Broadway is especially attuned to agreeable frolic, notably when the lights are on. Skylarking that would bring the Black Maria elsewhere does not even inspire a policeman's shush. In nights of the big football games the average citizen simply takes to the hills.

Even the sedate home-folks now and then have their moments. Only a few weeks ago in a fashionable dining place a prankish gentleman began to flip bread balls about. In no time everybody joined in. The climax came with a flying filet mignon landing skush on a white shirt front.

The subway rush hour is a test of the metropolitan magnificence in "taking it." These are nothing less than glorified football scrimmages with torn clothes and sometimes skinned shins and black eyes. But there's no anger. Everybody roars away grinning.

Mae Murray is a yesterday star who seems to have a strange hold on eternal youth. At least 20 years ago she was first of the professional cafe dancers, presaging the coming of the Castles. Even then she was not a wonder kiddie, but a seasoned performer. Today she appears as youthful almost as ever. There is a spring to her walk and her figure is the envy of those who seek to be sveite. Nor has she lost her zest for visiting the cafes, theatres and night clubs.

Another girl of yesterday with form divine has managed physically to laugh at the years—I mean Annette Kellerman. She does not hesitate to admit she is deep in the 40's. She was glorifying the bathing beauty before Mack Sennett made it a career. Recently she has been promoting diving exhibitions in Florida. Miss Kellerman is an Australian and, like most aquatic marvels, learned to swim in her babyhood.

What is regarded as the smartest men's tailoring establishment in town is on the avenue in the 50's. Paneled in gray satinwood edged with black glass, it is run by four European born brothers who greet their select clientele in morning coat, striped trousers and with lapel flower. Trade is confined almost solely among the foreign diplomats in Washington and New York. There are evening clothes with trappings ranging as high as $500 which gives an idea.

A lapel flower is invariably associated in my mind with success. To date, I've never seen such an affectation by a failure. The buttonhole posy is the outward manifestation of the inward glow. Charles M. Schwab rarely leaves home for his office without one. Paul Whiteman would no more think of mounting the rostrum without his boutonniere than without his baton. Somerset Maugham selects his morning flower from the florists as carefully as he does his attire in the restaurants at night. Now that Jack Dempsey has drawn the curtain on his biff-bang career, he is seldom without a red carnation, so the gesture is without sissiness. Among the lapel flowerists on Park avenue, Guernsey Curran is the most constant. On Broadway it is Arthur Levy, the press-agent. Thorley, the florist, used to be conspicuous because of his ever-present boutonniere, which of course was something of an ad. But today a walk on the avenue any morning will reveal several to the block.

Thingumbobs: Grover Whalen has 15 silk hats . . . Chinatown has an herb doctor who at 76 answers calls on his bicycle . . . The producer Charles Cochran likes a breakfast of fresh figs with double cream and little pig sausage . . . George Bernard Shaw says that after 60 the most interesting part of a newspaper is the obituary column . . . To his friends of the old San Francisco days Major Bowes is "Eddie."

Reaction: I never leave a subway express train without an urge to repeat the line credited to Queen Victoria on one historic pilgrimage. Upon stepping from her coach at Charing Cross after her first train ride she cried: "Not so fast next time, Mr. Conductor!"

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Effect of Weather on Health

MANY PEOPLE write to me asking about climate and weather in relation to their effects upon health and the control of certain diseases. There is little actual proof as to the value of one climate above another when judged by scientific standards. But, of course, certain advantages are recognized as regards the promotion of personal comfort and indirectly of bettering the health.

It is common knowledge that some persons gain in health and vigor after living for several weeks at a seaside resort. Some think this good effect is due to the stimulating effect of the climate and atmosphere upon the skin.

They also believe that the oxygen consumption is increased by living on the sea. This helps the body rid itself of certain unneeded and undesirable substances. Others claim that the sea air promotes the secretion of the stomach juices which aid digestion and thus improve the health.

Best for weak. There can be no doubt that during the winter months, if they can possibly manage it, it is best for elderly and weak persons to reside in a warm climate. This is especially advised for those who have catarrhal conditions or are subject to infections.

Temperature and humidity have their effects upon our feelings. For example, moist air is depressing and enervating. Dry air, on the other hand, is stimulating. Cool air is usually spoken of as "tonic" in its effects, while warm air is relaxing.

I suppose if we were like the birds we would move about as they do. There are advantages in changes of climate. Each one has its factors of goodness. Unfortunately, it is not possible for anybody except the rich to move to sections of the country best suited for his physical needs.

Within recent years great strides have been made in the perfection of air conditioning for private homes. There is no doubt that in a few years this advantage to comfort and health will be quite generally adopted. Scientifically controlled air conditioning should prove of value in the preservation of health and the prevention of disease. In the future, probably, it will be used, not only during the summer months, but in the winter as well.

Until the happy day arrives when these artificial aids are perfected and materially reduced in price, the individual must determine by experience what climate suits him best. Whenever possible, the extremes of temperature, excessive cold and excessive heat, must be avoided. This is particularly important for the elderly and weak persons.

Answers to Health Queries.

M. W. Q.—What is your treatment for deafness?

A.—Find the underlying cause of the condition first of all. Overcome any underlying catarrhal disorder. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Mrs. E. Q.—My niece has what is termed a condition where the organs have slipped or dropped down and she has to lie with her feet higher than her head. I have never heard of this condition. Will you please advise me about this condition?

A.—Talk with the doctor who is attending the case. He will be glad to advise you.

Daily Reader. Q.—What do you advise for swollen glands in the neck? I have a little daughter who is afflicted in this way.

A.—This condition is usually due to some underlying source of infection. Have the child examined. Your doctor will give you full information and advise regarding treatment.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

FORESTRY WORK OF U. S. PRAISED

Much Progress Has Been Made," Dean of Yale School Says

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—America's "last frontier" now comprises 170 million acres, according to Henry S. Graves, dean of Yale School of Forestry.

Graves, returning from an inspection tour with Gifford Pinchot, founder of the national forest system, and Herbert A. Smith, associated with the U. S. forest service for 25 years, contrasted conditions in Western forests today with those before creation of Federal forest preservation.

"Much progress has been made in recent years," he said, "in organized methods of fire protection and in technique of silviculture, controlled grazing of livestock and handling of recreation and wildlife. This advance is due not only to very efficient administration by technical men trained in forest schools but also to the fact that the work is based on science and biology."

This vast domain, he said, "is the last of the American frontier, now being made accessible by roads, trails and other improvements, and providing timber and other resources produced under constructive methods of conservation."

Graves, emphasizing the importance of research in developing the knowledge essential in managing public forests, said "there is a close partnership between the researches and the administrative branches of the forest service that has been of great value in the building up of knowledge of how to handle the American forests."

Christmas Traditions Come From Many Lands

NEW YORK—Were you to tell a Frenchman or a Dutchman that you expect Santa Claus to visit you on Christmas Eve, he'd wonder who you were talking about.

If you explained he'd nod smilingly and speak of Bon Homme Noel or Saint Nicholas, for that is what the French and the Dutch respectively call the patron saint of children.

Our Santa Claus is an imported product and originated in Holland as Saint Nicholas, who used to be honored on Dec. 6.

Many of our holidays have their roots in the celebrations of pagan Greece and the Roman Empire. Thus with Christmas.

Although Pope Julius designated Dec. 25 as Christmas in the fourth century, the pagans had a winter festival about this time of the year and many countries have contributed to the customs concerning Christmas. The tradition of having a Christmas tree is credited to several different sources.

Some believe that Martin Luther, in trying vainly to describe the beauty of a snow-covered forest under the silver glitter of starlight, went out into his garden, cut down a little fir tree and adorned it with candles and placed it in his home.

Another story is that St. Winifred—in the midst of her converts—destroyed a huge oak that had been worshipped by the Druids. As it fell it ruined all the trees around it except one fir tree.

The Egyptians cling to the date palm as symbolical of the firmament, while in France legend has it that a tree was discovered in the thirteenth century having its branches covered with candles and with a vision of a haloed child at the top. The interpretation placed upon this was that the tree represented mankind; the candles were symbolical of the good and the bad in mankind and the vision was the Savior.

Contrasted with this the Romans decorated a tree with the image of Bacchus.

In English symbolism, holly and ivy replace the laurel used by the Romans. The mistletoe, long ago, was venerated by the Druids as a symbol of happiness. Nothing but happiness was permitted around it. Moderns dispel the gloom with kisses.

The saturnalian hymns of long ago we now call Christmas carols. Others have them also, but the Germans call them Kristleider, the French sing their Noels, while in Russia one hears the chanting of the Koljada at their evening star celebration on Christmas Eve.

Practices Differ

As the trees and songs differ, so also do practices, with respect to gifts and the manner of giving them, differ. Even in the United States there is a difference.

Some place them around a tree, hang them on the branches, or have a Santa Claus bring them.

In Italy they get their gifts from the urn of Fate. Norwegians hide the toys brought by the Christ-kindein, while in Holland the wooden shoe is placed conspicuously on Christmas Eve. The custom of hanging stockings has developed because the wooden shoes of Amsterdam wouldn't stretch.

England has some of the most interesting customs for what the German people call Weihnacht Zeit. On Christmas morning, before large estates used to be a thing of the past, the neighbors and tenants would throng the masters hall where the ale was broached, the blackjacks and chessboard cheese served along with sugar toast and nutmeg and a great sausage called haccan.

Maidervants then had the right to ask the master to get them some ivy or allow them to purchase it. If he didn't they were permitted by custom to secure a pair of his trousers and nail them to a gate near the highway or in the yard.

Yule Log Lighting

The custom of the Yule log lighting is not so prevalent as it used to be. In some places, however, they still carry in the Yule log on Christmas Eve and light it with a brand of the log from the previous year. The Christmas tree is gaining in popularity since its introduction in 1760.

In England too, some people believe that cocks crow on this night to keep the evil spirits away. Natives in the German Alps believe that the cattle speak on Christmas Eve, while Polish people have a tradition that the heavens open and disclose Jacob's ladder to none but saints.

In France and especially in Paris, there is always a Christmas fete held on Christmas Eve. On the same night the Scandinavians place their shoes all in a row, signifying family peace and harmony for the ensuing year. On Christmas Eve they keep lighted candles in the window so that Kristine can bring in the gifts.

China's Heroine

When the Chinese forces evacuated Chapei, a "Battalion of Death" remained behind in the now-famous warehouse which they defended against the full might of Japan. Yang Hui-min (above), 18-year-old Chinese girl scout, heartened the men by smuggling a Chinese flag to them under fire.

RATE AMERICA LOW IN MUSIC

Gershwin Number Named As Best In Last 20 Years

ST. LOUIS—The Woman composer is inferior to the man, according to Reinold Werrenrath, 54-year-old former grand opera singer.

"I'm forced to say that I've never run across a song written by a woman which compares with the best men have written," Werrenrath said in a lecture on the American song here.

"I wonder why this should be since women from Emma Eames to Rosa Ponselle have far transcended men as opera singers," he continued.

An article Werrenrath wrote for the Encyclopedia Britannica makes him an authority on this subject.

"America, judged by old world standards, has produced few fine songs," he asserted, "and very few indigenous ones."

Places Gershwin First

"If I were put on the spot to name the best American composition—not song—of the last twenty years, I'd say George Gershwin's 'Rhapsody in Blue'."

The former singer pointed out that America hadn't had a peasant class to hand folk songs down through the years. He said that a few themes had been stolen from the Indians.

Werrenrath objected to crediting the Negro with any great influence on American song, and said the song had its origin in Africa.

In Mother England

lie the roots of the American song, according to Werrenrath. He said the first American song writer was Francis Hopkinson, born in 1737 and a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Names First Minstrel

When, in 1799, Cohann Christian Gottlieb Graupner blacked his face, strummed a banjo, and sang the "Gay Negro Boy" in a Boston theater he started something that lived with the embryo republic from its days as a small Atlantic seaboard union until the present day with its position as one of the world's greatest power—Graupner was the first minstrel man.

"With the tradition of the minstrel show came Stephen Foster who wrote some of the greatest songs."

"We might have a Schubert of our own, had this uncouth, untaught Pittsburgh boy advanced technically and been happier in his last years," Werrenrath said.

Werrenrath rated Deems Taylor as "chief white hope of contemporary American music."

FINAL CHAPTER "JUNGLE JIM"

Mrs. Cameron Is Hostess To Leornian Club

Mrs. Holland Cameron entertained associates of the Leornian club Wednesday evening at her home on North Madison ave., at a Christmas party.

Group singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Patten at the organ, was followed by several readings, given by Mrs. James Patten. Mrs. Robert Buckholdt had an interesting feature on "Christmas in Art." She read several articles and discussions of famous "mother and child" paintings and showed members small copies of them. Games were in charge of Mrs. Wilbur West.

Members exchanged Christmas gifts and enjoyed a lunch served by Mrs. Cameron and her associate hostesses, Miss Margaret Megraill, Mrs. Ray Newbold and Mrs. West. The next meeting will be held Jan. 12 at the library. Highlights of the program will include a paper "How Literary Awards are Made;" Pulitzer, Nobel, O. Henry, Harper's, Atlantic Monthly, John Newberry and other awards; "Poetry and Bright Lights," biography, Miss Harriett Percival; a book review, Mrs. Guy E. Byers.

Party Is Held By Quilters' Club

The Quilters' club of the Women's Relief Corps enjoyed a delightful Christmas party yesterday at the G. A. R. hall, where quiltings are held each Wednesday.

A turkey dinner was served to 41 members who were seated at the beautifully appointed X-shaped table. In the center of the table was a small lighted and decorated Christmas tree. White candles in crystal holders and miniature trees in red cellophane wrappings completed table decorations.

Members exchanged gifts and the group presented the chairman, Mrs. Harry Stratton, a lovely gift. Quilting and games were features of the afternoon.

The club members have completed a large number of quilts this year at their weekly sessions.

North and South Players Tie

North and South duplicate bridge players tied for high score last night at the Memorial building. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith had a score of 53 and Mrs. Eula Strawn and Mrs. Edward Heck matched their rating, tying for first place.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harding, with a score of 45, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hostetler, 45, tied for second.

East and West scores follow: Miss Ella Kirkbridge and Mrs. C. M. Wilson, 46; Miss Susan Deming and Mrs. James Wilson, 42; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Springer, 40½. Five and a half tables were in play.

Duplicate bridge players will not meet again until after Jan. 1.

Women's Missionary Society Meets

An attendance of 90 members was listed at a meeting of the Women's Missionary society in the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. W. D. King reviewed the book, "Highland Heritage." Mrs. Homer Barber gave a story, "Follow the Green." Devotions were led by Mrs. Walter Harwood. Musical entertainment was two piano selections, "Nocturne" by Chopin and "Arabesque," played by Miss Betty Sharp.

Tea was served by Mrs. J. H. Giffin and her committee.

Christian Church Class Convenes

The Thoughtful Christians class of the Christian church met last evening at the home of the teacher, Miss Anna Ruth Vincent, on South Union ave.

The evening was spent dressing dolls to be given to needy youngsters at Christmas time.

The class, which meets each Wednesday will be entertained next week at the home of Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Jennings ave.

Dames of Malta Arrange Party

Dames of Malta, meeting last evening in the hall, made plans for a Christmas party on Dec. 22 at the hall. Birthdays of three members will be celebrated at that time.

The affair will open with a covershish dinner and will feature a gift exchange.

One application for membership was received last night.

Steady Gleaners To Have Dinner

The Steady Gleaners class of the First Friends church will hold a covershish dinner and program at the church at 6 p. m. Friday. All members are urged to attend.

S. of U. V. Auxiliary Meets Tonight

Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary will meet at 8 tonight in the G. A. R. hall. Election of officers and other important business is scheduled. A large attendance is desired.

Find Stolen Goods

AKRON, Dec. 9.—Police traced today stolen property found in an auto in which they shot and killed Loring D. Richardson, 22, janitor for state police at Charleston, W. Va., when they sought to arrest him as a burglar suspect.

The articles included rifles, handcuffs, license plates, haberdashery and the auto itself. Relatives identified Richardson's body.

CLASS HAS FETE AT COLUMBIANA

Husbands And Friends Are Guests Of Daughters of The King At Covershish Supper

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 9.—The Daughters of the King enjoyed a covershish supper Tuesday evening in the social rooms of the Lutheran church, with husbands and friends as guests. Covers were laid for about 75.

In the absence of the president, the vice president, Mrs. Charles Esswein, presided at a short business meeting and led devotions. The program included a reading by Olive Varian; a vocal solo by Miss LaRue Miller; and selections by a quartet composed of Miss Florence Lipp, Mrs. Esswein, Mrs. Ray Fisher and Miss Ethel Esterly.

Carol singing was led by Charles Esswein. Following the program, a Christmas grab bag entertained for the remainder of the evening. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames C. O. Biddison, D. J. Miller, Ernest Werner, Ray Fisher and Misses Myrtle Koch, Rhoda Myers and Virginia Vollmole.

Music Study Club Meets

The Columbian Music Study club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Birgitta Felger. Mrs. R. E. Weaver presided at the business session and roll call responses were "something about Wagner." A paper, "The Story of Tristan and Isolde" was read by Miss LaRue Miller and one about "Laurence Melchior" was read by Mrs. Charles Miller.

A record, "Lubistadt," was followed by a paper on "Kirsten Flagstad," read by Mrs. Felger. "The Story of Lohengrin" was given by Mrs. Evan Reller and Mrs. H. C. Culp favored with a piano solo. The next meeting will be a choral service on Dec. 22, when the committee in charge will be Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mrs. R. P. Price and Mrs. D. H. Hepburn.

DULUTH, Minn.—George B. DuBois, acting manager of the social security field office here, believes he is the owner of the only existing, original model of the U. S. birthright Constitution—Old Ironsides. It was handed down to DuBois from his grandfather.

HANOVER FARM RALLY CLOSES

Austin Haynum Is Named President; Programs Are Presented

HANOVERTON, Dec. 9.—Austin Haynum was elected president of the Hanover Farmers Institute at the closing sessions of the 14th annual meeting yesterday.

W. S. Leeper was named vice president and Mrs. Helen Nolting was elected secretary and hostess. The following were named to the executive committee: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raley and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McClelland.

Programs Presented
Interesting programs were presented throughout the sessions. Speakers included John Strausbaugh, assistant Columbiana county agent; Mark Borton, deputy range master for Columbiana county; John Grier-on and Miss Carrie A. Wilson. The latter two were sent to the institute by the state range.

Participating in the programs were 4-H clubs, granges, churches, Christian Endeavor societies, the Farm Bureau and numerous individuals.

Mrs. George Devitt won the prize for the oldest dress with a wedding garment worn by her grandmother 53 years ago. The prize for the most beautiful old dress went to Miss Alice Wilson.

Harold and Dale Hawkins were first in the children's division of the program, in which 27 persons took part. Other winners in the children's contest were: Andy Rushak, second; Lepra and Chester Hanna, third.

Adult winners in the amateur contest were: Duane Lutz, first; Catherine and Eliza Humphrey and Naomi Harrington, tie for second; Mary Dorr, third.

Prizes For Apples

The prize for the best Golden Delicious apples was won by Jesse Slackhouse, who also captured the award for the best Grimes Golden apples. Mrs. Harold Raley had the best Baldwin apples and Sam Tritton the best Jonathans.

Mrs. Herman Hays won first place in the contest for the best article made of sacks.

Fifth and sixth grade students winning awards for institute posters were Russell Wilson and Franklin Humphreys. The prizes for the best posters in the seventh and eighth grade division were won by Hazel Schaffer and Donald Lautzenheiser.

Named On Board

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9.—Prof. C. E. Sherman of Ohio State university was appointed today by Judge Robert P. Duncan of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy district to the district's board of directors. His five-year term became effective immediately. Sherman succeeds B. B. Smith of Fremont, resigned.

Chaplin Divorcing Secret Bride?

Charlie Chaplin Paulette Goddard

Although they have never openly admitted being married, rumor has it that Charlie Chaplin, film comedian, and Paulette Goddard, his leading lady in several pictures, have been secretly wed for some time and are now planning a divorce. It is said that the rift was due to Miss Goddard's desire to continue her screen career despite Chaplin's objections.

Social Events In Lisbon

Members of the Methodist church congregation here will welcome 19 new members tonight at a meeting in the parish house. The event opens with a covershish supper at 6 p. m., followed by a recreational period.

Knights of Pythias elected officers for next year at a meeting Wednesday evening in the lodge rooms. Second degree work also was conferred on a class of candidates.

School Teacher Speaks At Meeting Of Leetonia Club

LEETONIA, Dec. 9.—The Kiwanis club met at St. Paul's Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The Priscilla club served the dinner. Miss Elizabeth Starr, of Columbiana, high school teacher, the speaker, told of her experiences on a recent trip to Europe. Jane Fenstermaker and Anita Stewart, with Miss Carol Fisher as accompanist played saxophone duets.

Robert Marshall gave the attendance prize to Miss Starr.

On Sunday, James A. Cozza, vice president-elect, C. S. Marshall, secretary, Glenn Powell, and Guy Mauro attended a 10th division council meeting at East Liverpool presided over by Lt. Gov. Carl Williams of Salem. Mr. Marshall spoke on "Relation of the Club to District and International."

The Friendly class of St. Paul's Lutheran church, taught by Mrs. I. F. Mellinger, held its annual Christmas party at the church Monday evening with Mrs. C. J. Halverstad, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Ann Godfred and Mrs. Henry Gibson as the committee in charge.

A covershish dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. followed by a gift exchange. A pantomime on Christmas carols was presented with Miss Debra Smith as soloist. Rev. J. W. Grohne gave a talk.

Mrs. Tillie McNulty entertained club associates at her home Tuesday evening. Three tables of bridge were in play.

The Torch Bearers of St. Paul's Lutheran church, with their leader Mrs. H. C. Brinhart, held a covershish supper in the chapel Tuesday evening at 5:30.

Mrs. Carl Blattman and Mrs. Victor Hedi and son Charles visited Mrs. Blattman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wood at New Castle Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Grohne moved into the John Bellhart apartment, this week.

ALASKA AIRPORT DEFENSE UNIT

Sitka Military Base Buf-

foresew the day when a "buffer" along the northwest coast might be employed to stem the tide of Asiatic ambition.
This year, in which the seven-tieth anniversary of Alaska's purchase is being celebrated, has produced an abundance of records to prove that even when considered from a purely economic standpoint, the Alaskan territory has been one of the nation's outstanding assets.
Purchased from Russia in 1867
for the sum of $7,200,000, Alaska has already produced minerals worth more than 100 times that figure.

Minerals, however, are only a small part of the picture. Topping the export list is canned salmon, of which $45,386,512 worth was shipped to the United States during the single fiscal year of 1937.
Total commerce between the United States and Alaska, including all imports and exports for fiscal 1937, amounted to $114,923, 169. Included in this figure were fish, copper ore, fur skins, gold, silver and miscellaneous products.

Tourists "Discover" Alaska
Travel interest, as well as commerce, increased during the fiscal year. Records of the several steamship companies servicing Alaska indicate that approximately 72,000 passengers were carried on the 12 freighters and 25 passenger ships plying the coastal routes.
Federal resettlement activity in Matanuska valley, while beset with many perplexing difficulties, has proved that the soil and climate of the territory are well-suited to profitable farming.

In his annual report to the U. S. government, Gov. John W. Troy called attention to the remarkable expansion of commercial aviation in the territory. The first air service began operating 10 years ago, and recent records show that almost 90,000 passengers have been flown. At present there are 40 aviators and 101 Alaskan planes under federal registration.
Considered in the light of its economic contributions, its defensive possibilities, and its rich agricultural future, Alaska must be adjudged one of the most profitable purchases ever made by any nation.

Plant To Roll Red-Hot Steel Ribbon At Rate Of 2,121 Feet Every Minute

Republic's New Continuous Strip Mill Is Largest And Fastest Of Kind In World

(By United Press)
CLEVELAND—A red-hot ribbon of metal soon will start rolling through the Republic Steel Corporation's giant new continuous strip mill here—largest and fastest of its kind in the world.
Twenty-five hundred men have toiled in the grimy Cuyahoga river valley since spring building the $15,000,000 plant, capable of turning out the widest strip of steel produced—98-inch material.
The hot and cold strip mills are built in two units, consisting of a total of nine buildings. One group speed cutting units, flatteners and uncollers.

The cold mill will be fed from the hot mill and will have a capacity of 25,000 tons a month, to be expended if increasing business warrants.

In announcing plans for the construction of the new mills, Tom M.
Girdler, chairman of Republic's board, explained that it was the greatly increased demand for strip steel that made the continuous mill desirable.

"The demand for strip steel is constantly rising. The all-steel automobile body has meant greatly increased tonnage. Within the next year or two we will see a vastly increased demand for steel in residential construction.

"Our own experience with the Berly steel-frame house indicates

Resting the Lung by Injecting Air

This patient is receiving pneumothorax treatment for tuberculosis, a painless method used widely in this country since 1912. Pneumo means air and thorax refers to the chest, and the procedure is to inject a gas
into the space between the chest wall and outer surface of the lung.
By this process the infected lung is put to rest, thereby restricting respiration to the healthy lung.
When tuberculosis is discovered in its early stages pneumothorax treatment can save thousands of lives.

Many men and women today are back at work, healthy and useful, because they can go to their doctors periodically and receive "refills" of air. Pneumothorax is one of the modern weapons advocated by the National Tuberculosis Association and its 2,000 affiliated state and local associations. Their educational campaign is financed by Christmas Seals sold between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Take Medical Test

Among the 23 students who have completed the medical aptitude test given at Mount Union college are two senior men from Salem.

Richard D. Haines and Albert Hanna are the Salem seniors with medical aspirations. Each is working towards a Bachelor of Science degree.

All students planning to enter a medical school are required to take this preliminary examination, which is prepared by the American Medical association and graded at its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Each year Mount Union sends approximately ten per cent of her graduates to medical school. This is about twice the average for colleges of the nation.

Entertains W. C. T. U.

Mrs. William Hawkins was hostess to members of the W. C. T. U. and guests yesterday at her home on North Lundy ave.

A covered dinner at noon was followed by a business session. Mrs. Bertha Cobb, evangelistic superintendent, led devotions.

A report of activities for last month included the distribution of flowers, prayerbooks, Bibles and New Testaments to a number of young people.

The members will have a New Year's gift exchange at the meeting Jan. 4.

POTTERS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Manufacturers' Group Is Headed by East Liverpool Man

in his address opening the convention Tuesday, said "the pottery industry had been only one in which 58 per cent of the sales dollar had gone direct as wages to labor."

"Added durable nature of the industry's produce and high labor cost made us peculiarly susceptible to foreign competition."

"This has been recognized by all tariff bills," Wells said. "In spite of protection so afforded, conditions have changed during the last decade to such an extent that the very existence of American industry is threatened."

Cites Tariff Laws

"The tariff laws basing duty paid on foreign rather than American valuation, has been ineffective, since one thousand per cent of nothing is still nothing. We have at present lost more than 50 per cent of American domestic business to foreign competition, not because of inefficient factories but solely because of a wage differential."

"The workmen in the potteries, knowing this and seeing their work opportunities taken from them, have initiated measures they thought necessary to preserve the remaining work."

Canton Man Named In Damage Action

LISBON, Dec. 8.—A second suit naming Robert Bagnall, living near Canton, as defendant was filed Wednesday by Robert J. Dunn, who asks $1,000 damages for injuries sustained in an auto accident Oct. 15.

Dunn's petition followed one filed by James Harsha, East Liverpool, through his father, Elsie Harsha, asking $5,000 damages. Both plaintiffs claim they were passengers in a car operated by George Orin when Bagnall's car collided with theirs on Route 30.

Dunn claims permanent injuries resulting from the accident and charges the defendant operated his machine on the left side of the road.

OMAR POWELL

Omar Powell, 66, of R. D. 1, Homeworth, died at his home at 6:50 a. m. today after five weeks' illness of complications.

Mr. Powell was born near Homeworth Feb. 18, 1871, and spent his entire life in the vicinity, with the exception of five years when he resided in Kentucky. He was an oil-driller and until recently was employed by William Thompson of Pittsburgh.

He is survived by his wife, Sarah; four sons, Chester, of Alliance, John, Wade and Billy at home; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Stump of Moultrie, Mrs. Ray Wickersham of Homeworth and Helen, Alliance; six grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Miller and Mrs. Margie Sanor of Alliance; one brother, Dallas, of Canby, Oregon.

Funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Cassaday and Turkle funeral home in Alliance. Rev. D. DeVeny, pastor of the Homeworth Evangelical church, will be in charge.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

MRS. MARY E. POTTS

LISBON, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Mary Emma Potts, 92, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Hendricks, at 3:25 a. m. today of infirmities of age.

Mrs. Potts, widow of W. S. Potts, who died April 14, 1928, was born in Lisbon Aug. 6, 1845. She was the daughter of Simon and Lucinda Prouse Wisden and the last member of the Wisden family, pioneer residents here. She was a member of the Christian church.

She leaves a son, Wisden J. Potts of Baltimore; a daughter, Mrs. Hendricks, at whose home she died; four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Rev. Jarvis Cotton of Pittsburgh and Rev. J. M. Cox of Lisbon will be in charge of the funeral service at 3 p. m. Saturday at the Hendricks home. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery. Friends may call at the home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

RICHARD JONES FUNERAL

The Odd Fellows service was conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Arbaugh funeral home for Richard Jones of 404 Wilson st., who died Sunday at his home. Burial was in Grandview cemetery.

Friends and relatives attending the service were from Detroit, Bedford, Cleveland, New Castle, Steubenville, Alliance, Leetonia and Canton.

THOS. MONCRIEF FUNERAL

Funeral service was held at 2 p. m. yesterday at the Winona Gurney Friends church for Thomas Moncrief, who died Monday at his home in Wellsville. Rev. Martin Brantingham and Rev. Frank Reichenbach conducted service.

Burial was in Wooddale cemetery. Relatives from Canton, Alliance, Wellsville and Winona attended.

MRS. HARRY WILDE

Mrs. Harry Wilde, 84, died at her home, 578 West Pershing st., at 12:10 p. m. today of a cerebral hemorrhage following a month's illness.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

DANCER'S BODY IS DISCOVERED

Disappearance of Pretty Jean De Koven, 22, Is Solved

discovery of the rental agent's body.

The prisoner confessed last evening, the investigators said, to killing the real estate man.

"I shot him because I needed money," Weidmann was quoted.

That did not close the interrogation of the prisoner. For 18 hours the officers kept him under a cross-fire of questions in connection with other crimes.

Confesses In Girl's Death

After a night of questioning at the Versailles police headquarters, police asked the prisoner: "Who else have you killed?"

Then, the investigators said, Weidmann wrote the name of Jean DeKoven on a scrap of paper. They said the subsequent confession was vague but that Weidmann offered to lead police to the villa where he was quoted as saying Miss DeKoven's body had been buried.

Weidmann first gave police several false names, including "Sigfried Sauerberg," but finally identified himself correctly, they said.

The United States embassy in Paris was informed of the confession. The 22-year-old Brooklyn girl disappeared from a Paris hotel last July while on a visit to France. The disappearance was reported early in August through the American embassy by Miss DeKoven's aunt and traveling companion, da Sackheim.

Body Recovered

LANCASTER, Dec. 9.—The body of Odie McCormick, 19, was removed last night from the charred ruins of a two-story log cabin at nearby Sugar Grove. He burned to death in a fire that severely burned his mother and injured his three brothers.

dered, with a large, well-shaped head. He doesn't talk, but orates when on the speakers' stand, friends say.

Cards Are Displayed

With "The Menace" display cards outlawing Japanese products prominent in store and home windows, "Buy American" appearing on hundreds of labels around town, and canvassing committees winding up a vigorous house-to-house campaign throughout the district, brotherhood members are giving one last thrust to put a national-scale boycott program "over the top."

Duffy, while in Washington, will attempt to persuade senators and representatives from Ohio and West Virginia to participate in the "boycott day" program.

The parade committee, under Thomas Cartwright, reports that 24 decorated cars have entered. Those of manufacturers will not be eligible for the prize money. W. W. Watkins is making necessary arrangements between float entrants and decorators.

Theater Attractions

Bette Davis, Leslie Howard and Olivia DeHavilland in a scene from "It's Love I'm After", at the State Friday and Saturday

"It's Love I'm After", featuring Bette Davis, Leslie Howard, and Olivia DeHavilland, will be seen at the State Friday and Saturday, following the current double bill of "Breakfast for Two" and "There Goes the Groom", concluding tonight.

The picture continues the cycle of sprightly comedies which has taken the industry by storm. Patrick Knowles, Eric Blore and George Barbier are seen in supporting roles.

Stars Battle

Howard, a matinee idol with an extensive feminine following, and Miss Davis, an actress in love with him, battle continuously, for each is a scene-stealer. While their audiences hear their beautiful lines they are fighting in whispers.

Miss DeHavilland, a sentimental headdress, forsakes her fiancé played by Patrick Knowles, for Howard Knowles and Miss Davis unite forces to prevent the two from eloping. Spring Byington, Bonita Granville, E. E. Clive and Valerie Bergere also have prominent roles.

A double bill concludes tonight at the State, "Breakfast for Two" has Herbert Marshall, Barbara Stanwyck, Glenda Farrell and Ed Egan. "There Goes the Groom" stars Ann Sothern, Burgess Meredith and Mary Boland.

Gene Autry at Grand

A Gene Autry musical western "Public Cowboy No. 1" will be the attraction at the Grand Friday and Saturday. Autry is, as usual, assisted by Smiley Burnette, comedian. Ann Rutherford has the leading feminine role.

UNCLE ABNER SAYS:

10 FIRE PERILS IN HOME LISTED

Bed-Smoker Is Most Dangerous, Cleveland Club Finds

CLEVELAND — Next time you curl up in bed with a good book and light a cigarette, take note of the fact you're regarded as a menace to life and property.

The Cleveland Fire Prevention Bureau lists 10 species of firebugs, following a survey of Greater Cleveland during National Fire Prevention Week.

No. 1 is the smoker-in-bed, from whose fingers, all too frequently, a cigaret drops to the floor or rolls into bedclothing to start a serious blaze.

No. 2 is the "woman" who uses an electric curling iron, then lays it still hot, on a wooden shelf and walks away carelessly while flames spread.

No. 3 is the free-style flicker of matches and ashes. This includes the fellow who builds a nest in the Sunday paper and strews hot ashes about him as he reads.

Handy Man Cited

No. 4 is the handy man who installs yards and yards of extension cord in his home, runs frayed cord under rugs and carpets and hangs them over radiators.

No. 5 is the basement fire-bug, who absent-mindedly dumps hot ashes into baskets of rubbish and wastepaper, then bounds up stairs with never a care in the world.

No. 6 is the woman who dumps rags saturated with cleaning fluid into the furnace.

No. 7 is the housewife who cleans clothing with naphtha and then uses a hot iron on it.

No. 8 on the list is the person who is always tearing apart electric power line plugs and household gadgets to see what's wrong with them. It's seldom he gets them together so that they're safe again.

Sweeping Wife Warned

No. 9 is the housewife who sweeps matches and other objects into warm air registers.

No. 10 is the man who provides his guests with matches that lose their heads and ash trays that won't keep a cigaret from rolling off on the floor.

The list is to be forwarded to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Statistics distributed throughout the country during Fire Prevention week shows an average of 8,000 deaths each year from fire. In 1935, insurance companies estimated $250,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire.

MIDDLETON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woods and Miss Sara Cooper accompanied Samuel Cooper to Barnesville where they spent Sunday. The latter's father, Cyrus Cooper, who had attended quarterly meeting at Barnesville and conducted several religious meetings during the week, returned home with them in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cope and daughter, Yvonne visited Mr. and Mrs. John Cope near Leetonia, Sunday evening.

Sandra Firestone Ill

Sandra, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Firestone, is ill, suffering from whooping cough.

Mrs. Corinne Shearer and George Shearer and family were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Zimmerman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rohrer and family enjoyed Sunday dinner with her sister, Mrs. Stelvin Coy, and family of Boyer.

James Harmon accompanied his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayberry of Youngstown, to Cleveland, Sunday, where they were guests of Mr. Mayberry's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayberry.

Miss Zelta Rohrer is assisting in the care of Mrs. John Martin, her great aunt, who is confined to her bed suffering from heart trouble.

Mrs. T. H. McFarren and son, Bernard visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scope and daughter, Verna Marie of North Lima, Sunday.

Serenade Newlyweds
Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Davis, recent newlyweds were given a serenade at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, where they reside.

Vernon Hawkins of Kent visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hawkins, Tuesday. His wife and baby were guests of Mrs. Russell McKenzie and family, near Salem.

Indicted Mayor

Mayor Meyer C. Ellenstein, of Newark, N. J., is one of twenty-seven persons indicted by a Grand Jury on charges of fraud. Twenty-three indictments handed down, three charging conspiracy to defraud and sixteen charging malfeasance, were based on transactions involving purchase of land by the city in the Port Newark and Newark Airport areas.

Government Buying Land In Dust Bowl Area Of West

BY FRED BAILEY
United Press Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Federal expenditures under the farm purchase provisions of the Farm Tenant Act will be concentrated immediately in the Great Plains area, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has announced.

Title three of the act directs the secretary to "develop a program of land conservation and land utilization, including the retirement of lands which are sub-marginal or not primarily suitable for cultivation."

To administer the land purchase program Congress authorized appropriation of $50,000,000 over a three-year period, of which $10,000,000 has been made available this fiscal year.

Plains Area First
Wallace said 80 per cent of the money to be spent for land this year will be in the Great Plains area, in projects laid out on the basis of land-use planning studies during the past two years. The remainder will be spent for "block-buying" already existing projects in other parts of the country.

"During the three-year period the important consideration in selecting land for purchase will be to place under government ownership lands whose present use is not in accord with the public welfare and the welfare of the persons now occupying it," Wallace said.

"The land retired from cultivation will be used for forests, recreational areas, wildlife refuges, controlled range and other purposes for which it is best suited and which will promote the general welfare."

HOMEWORTH

Mrs. Estella Bedford of Lima-ville was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Freshley, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas and son Jimmy of Alliance were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thomas, Sunday.

Bobbie Cassidy of Alliance spent Saturday with friends here.

W. O. Nouffer of Cortland was with relatives here Friday.

Omar Powell has been brought home from the Alliance City hospital. His condition is critical.

The Farmers Institute was well attended at Homeworth. The old officers were retained.

PARIS — A plane service, by which human blood for transfusion can be rushed to any part of Europe, is being planned here. Details were worked out following successful operation of "blood factories" in Europe and the United States. In these factories human blood of every type is analyzed and preserved.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — President Roosevelt's only remaining student representative at Harvard is his youngest son, John, but the Roosevelts now there total seven. Besides the President's son are Quentin, Joseph Willard, Archibald Bulloch, Jr., James West, Daniel Stewart and Henry Parrish.

Each project will be selected, in cooperation with state and local agencies, so as to permit the efficient use and administration of the land purchased, to contribute to an improvement in economy of the entire area and to prevent the waste or misuse of the land. Wallace said.

State Policy Important
Special consideration will be given to the purchase of land in areas zoned against agricultural settlements, in areas where the state is applying a vigorous policy of retaining tax-delinquent lands in public hands, with suitable conservation protection.

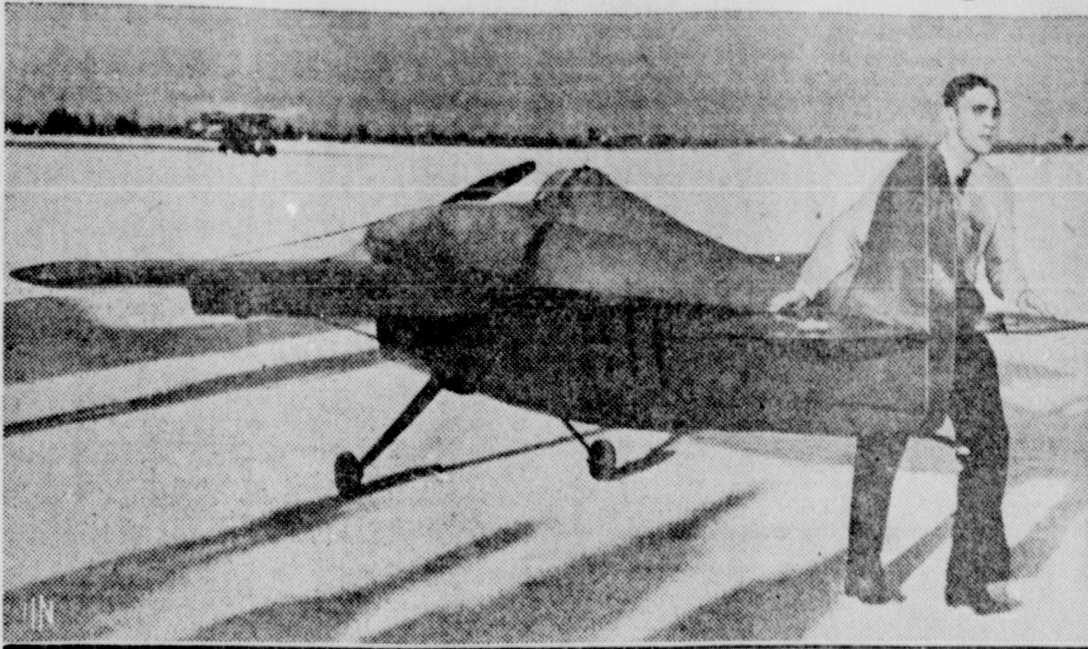

"In the Great Plains," Wallace said, "considerable areas of land which are definitely submarginal are unoccupied and in various stages of abandonment or disuse."

"Many of these lands are absentee-owned. Some are farmed one year by 'suitcase farmers' and allowed to lie idle the next. Some are completely abandoned fields or pastures."

"Frequently soil drifting from these lands ruins adjacent occupied lands. Public acquisition appears to offer the only means of restoring these lands to efficient use—in some instances, of preventing them from being a menace to surrounding lands," Wallace said.

All possible help will be given to families residing on land purchased to find new homes, he said. They will be helped to locate good lands. As far as the funds permit, the necessary debt adjustment, rehabilitation and related assistance will be provided, Wallace said.

A Flying Winner and His Mighty Midget

S. J. Wittman, of Oshkosh, Wis., is pictured as he dragged his midget racer off the field as if it were a kiddy car. Wittman won the handicap invitational race in the annual Miami All-American maneuvers. His two friends, Rudy Kling, of Lemont, Ill., and Frank Haines, of Detroit, were killed in crashes early in the meet. Wittman's tiny plane has a speed of more than 270 miles an hour.

Medical Director Declares Death Rate Still Is Far Too High

OAKLAND, Cal.—The death rate in tuberculosis has been reduced nearly 75 per cent but the annual mortality is still 55 per 100,000 persons, Dr. Robert A. Peers, medical director of the Cofax school for tuberculosis patients, said here.

Dr. Peers spoke before the Pacific coast section of the American Student Health Association in convention at Mills college.

"This mortality rate is greater than it should be, with our present knowledge of methods of control," he said. "We should feel this figure a disgrace rather than cause for elation."

Dr. Peers said the reduction of 75 per cent was very gratifying to medical men.

Slow to Learn Facts

Three things must be known to control any disease, Dr. Peers said. They are the cause, manner in which it is spread, and who has the disease.

"For a number of decades following the discovery of the tubercle bacillus there was no scientific method to determine exactly who had the disease," he said.

"It is not the advanced case which is the dangerous source of infection," he continued. "Such a person is recognized and placed under control."

Dr. Peers pointed out that persons responsible for the spread of the disease are of three types—the person infected but unrecognized as a carrier; the missed case; and the carrier who is not directly infected.

X-Ray Detects All Types

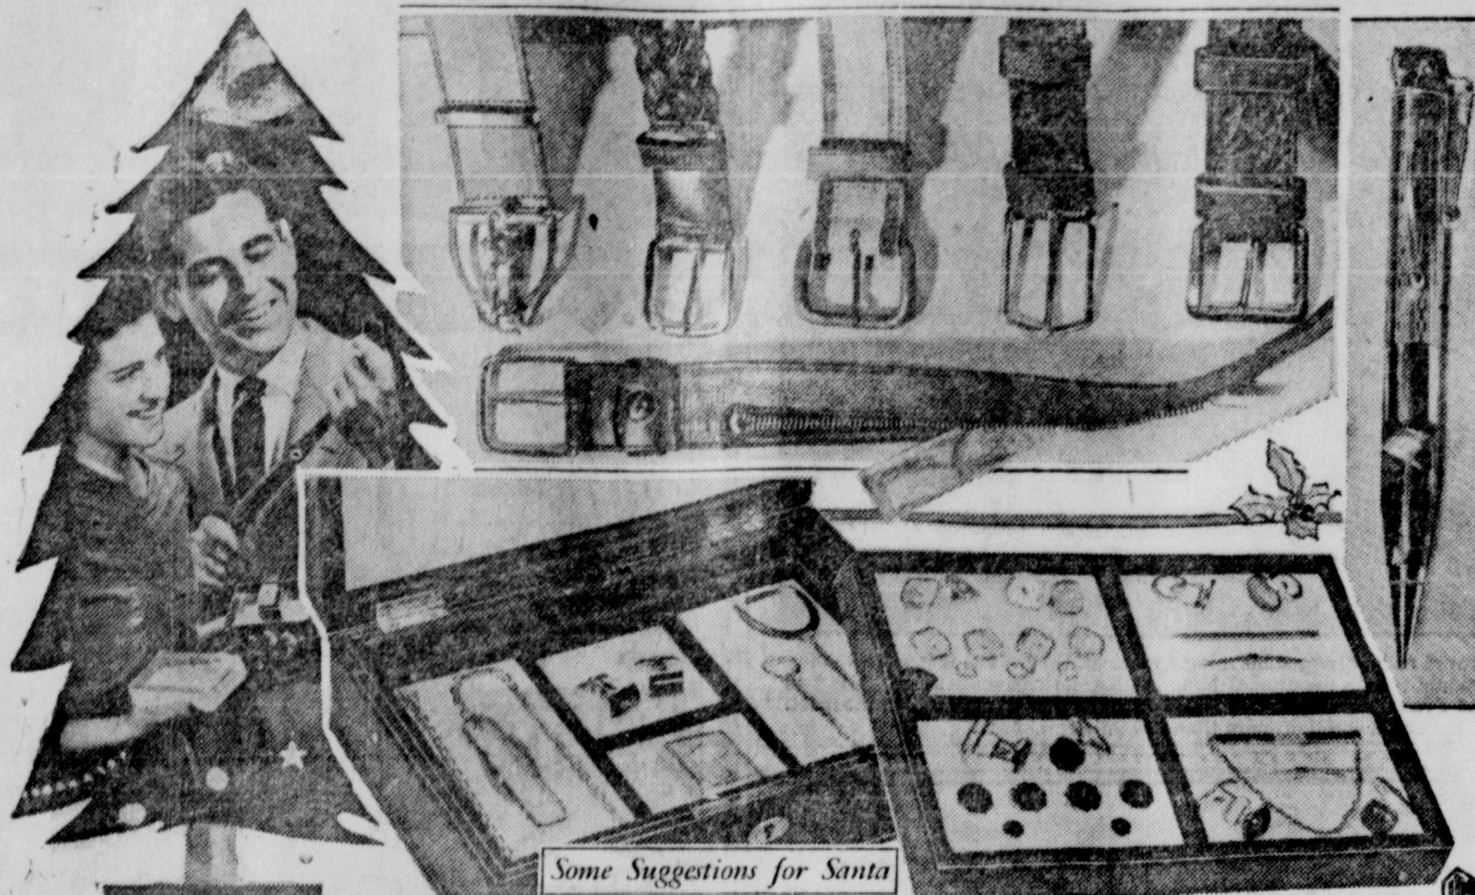

"Now," he said, "the X-ray can discover all types and stages of tuberculosis, enabling physicians and public health officers in determining spreaders of the disease."

Because of failure of medical men to recognize the three classes of carriers of the disease before invention of the X-ray, he said, control of the disease was delayed so long.

Dr. Peers praised efforts of the various tuberculosis associations in educating the public regarding the disease and providing hospital beds for those with open tuberculosis.

The reduction in mortality was due directly and indirectly to efforts of these organizations, he said.

Christmas Gifts for Men More Varied This Year

Some Suggestions for Santa

One of the principal things to consider in choosing that Christmas gift for husband, brother, father or some other male is to select something with individuality yet not bizarre. There is an essential conservatism about the male of the species which makes it unwise to pick red neckties and similar gifts. Jewelry of modest design, such as studs, cuff links and such, is always acceptable. There are many new designs in belts, some of them with clever monogrammed buckles which are most fetching. Cigaret lighters and smoking equipment answer many a man's Christmas desires, while a new robe in some of the swanky shades now shown should please.

Blind Piano Tuner Unbowed By Fate; Says "Life Has Been Mighty Good"

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. — Life, on the whole, has handed him "some mighty swell breaks," declares New Orleans' greatest optimist. He is Andrew Blakely, a blind piano tuner.

His first "swell break" was going to the State School for Blind and learning to tune pianos. The second was getting a job at New Orleans' largest music store, a job he has held for 18 years.

"That's a lot—not having to worry about the next job or the next meal," Blakely said. "Lots of my friends with good eyesight can't say that. Yes, life has been mighty good to me there."

But the fundamental necessities of life aren't the most important, the small man believes. Entertainment—movies, reading, the circus—is important, too. Here, life again has given Blakely a "swell break."

Life has bestowed upon him a simple, homely philosophy.

"Everybody knows the best way to see the circus is the way the kids see it," he explained. That is the way he "sees" the circus.

"There is the smell of the sawdust and popcorn and animals," he said. He always takes two or three children with him to the show. He gets as much fun out of their descriptions of the performers as if he were watching them himself.

"That way," he said, "the circus has always been fun for me, and always will be."

Blakely also likes the movies—the sound effects. He is an ardent sports fan. Listening to play-by-play descriptions, he believes he enjoys a football or baseball game more than most of the spectators.

I Never Want to see Another Cathartic!

Here's a way to AVOID two tyrants—common constipation and cathartics, too!

Simply put back in your diet two of Nature's own laxatives that are lost by eating soft, "wimpy" foods: These NATURAL laxatives are the intestinal tonic vitamin "B"—and "bulk."

Kellogg's All-Bran is a good source of vitamin "B"—to tone your intestinal tract and promote regular elimination. All-Bran has "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination.

All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits. Delicious in muffins. But, however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FARM LABORER EARN'S LOWEST WORKER'S PAY

Agriculture Department Estimates $300 As Yearly Average

WASHINGTON, Dec.—Farm laborers are the lowest-paid class of workers in America, a Department of Agriculture survey revealed today.

Annual earnings range from $62 to $748 a year among groups surveyed and average approximately $300. Average farm wages in many localities were found to be less than 50 cents a day.

The department estimated there were 2,500,000 persons engaged as farm laborers. An intensive personal canvass was made of laborers in 11 counties in many states representative sections of the country.

Investigators went into the heart of the corn belt, the wheat belt, the cattle and sheep country, into the cotton, fruit and dairy regions. The survey included part-time as well as permanent employees.

Lag in Farm Wages
Farm wages, although they have increased 50 per cent since 1932, have not risen as rapidly as farm home and city wage earnings, the survey said. Compared with other wage-earning groups farm laborers receive 20 per cent less than they did in the five years before 1929.

In 1936, income from farm production, including benefit payments, averaged 130 per cent of pre-war, non-farm income averaged 148 per cent, but farm wages instead of rising to a comparable level rose only to 107 per cent, the survey said.

The average age of farm laborers is increasing, the report concluded. Whereas young men previously dominated, the average age of farm "hired help" now is about 35 years. One-third were past 40 and in some areas men past 60 were found working in fields at 50 cents a day.

Female southern cotton pickers were the lowest paid class, earning an average of $62 a year. Male cotton pickers in Louisiana earned an average of $178 a year. Oriental workers in California reported the highest average income, $748 a year.

South Far Below North
Average earnings of southern workers interviewed were only slightly more than half the earnings of northern workers. In no southern county was the annual earnings as much as $100 per person. Northern workers received an average income of $140 per person, which included all members of the family.

Sharp sectional differences were found in educational attainment of farm laborers, ranging from illiteracy to high school education. Northern workers generally were better educated.

A negligible percentage of southern workers had more than an elementary education, but 25 per cent or more of the northern workers had completed at least one year of high school work.

The survey showed farm laborers took only a limited part in organized activities of their communities, belonging to few formal organizations, unions or farm groups. Southerners went to church more often than northerners. Northerners went more often to the movies.

The 11 counties surveyed were: Pecos, Calif.; Archuleta, Colo.; Livingston, Ill.; Hamilton, Ind.; Parnes, Kas.; Todd, Ky.; Comstock, La.; Wayne, Pa.; Pentress, Tenn.; and Karnes, Tex.

BOSTON—Speeches and dances weren't unusual—but this one was for the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf. The members "listened" through the nimble fingers of an interpreter. They danced to the vibrations of an orchestra.

Man at Work

HONOLULU—As a result of the rapid increase of automobiles on the Hawaiian Islands, the federal and territorial governments have adopted a 20-year plan for hard-surfaced highways throughout the islands. More than 54,000 cars are now registered in the islands.

TOPEKA, Kas.—Less wheat with lower prices for 1938 was the forecast made for Kansas by H. L. Collins, federal agricultural statistician. He based his prediction on the depth of soil moisture at the time of fall seeding.

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. RECORD OUTPUT PREDICTED FOR LUMBER IN 1938

Timber Authority Expects General Boom From Low Cost Homes

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. — The 1938 lumber industry will reach a volume unsurpassed by former records, Col. William B. Greeley, head of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, predicted here. Greeley was chief forester of the United States for eight years and is regarded as one of America's foremost forestry authorities. "Lumber has been slow since the spring, but we expect 1938 to reach a volume unsurpassed by any of our records," Greeley said. Commenting on the New Orleans convention of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, Greeley said two main topics were discussed: First, lumber's part in the production of low-cost homes under the Federal housing administration plan, and second, lumber's new role in heavy construction.

Model Homes Built
He explained that the lumber industry had built in Washington three of the FHA low-cost model homes, all of which sold for less than $2,500, including the lot on which they were erected. "This led," he said, "to construction of more than 3,000 in all parts of the country, all within the cost limits." Greeley said the demand for these homes far exceeded the number available. He said that for the three "sample" homes constructed in Washington, there were more than 300 applicants. "This year," Greeley said, referring to the coming 1938 season, "lumbermen will build eight model homes, ranging in price from $2,000 to $4,200—all 100 per cent lumber."

New Construction Explained
Concerning the use of lumber in heavy construction, he said that by using a new "ring-connector" process in joining pieces of lumber together, tremendous strength is gained. He pointed out that buildings now being erected on "Treasure Island," site of the Golden Gate international exposition in San Francisco Bay, were constructed in this manner. More than 9,600 structures, which formerly would have been constructed with steel frames, have been built with wood frames since adoption of the new joining process, Greeley said.

Ohio Woman Reveals Her Clue to Police On Gangsters

STUEBENVILLE—A Steubenville woman says she gave authorities information that led to the breaking up of the notorious Brady gang. Miss Katherine L. Scanlan declared that on the day an Ohio state patrolman was slain near Freeport, Al Brady, leader of the gang, appeared at her home and asked for money. He was with a man who resembled Clarence Shaffer, gang lieutenant, she said. Miss Scanlan gave the men 75 cents and they left, saying they were going to pick up an automobile which was being repaired. She telephoned Steubenville police, she said, furnishing information which put department of justice agents on the trail of the killers. "The information I furnished led to this notorious gang being wiped out," Miss Scanlan said. Brady and Shaffer were killed by G-men in Bangor, Me. James Dalhoffer, a member of the gang, was captured and returned to Indianapolis to face charges of murder and bank robbery.

CALIFORNIA DAM SECOND IN SIZE

Structure to Be Larger Than Boulder Dam
In Colorado

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec.—The Federal government has revised its plans for Shasta Dam of the Central Valley Water Project and the structure will be the second largest concrete dam in the world.

It will be more immense than Boulder Dam, stemming the flood waters of the Colorado river, and will be second in size only to the Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia river in Washington.

Although Boulder dam will remain unchallenged as the world's highest structure of its type, Shasta dam will be more than twice as long across its crest. It will be 3,100, compared to Boulder's 1,232 feet. Grand Coulee, spreading 4,200 feet across the Columbia, is the world's widest.

The Northwest's dam also will contain more concrete than any other. The Grand Coulee dam and power houses will require 11,250,000 cubic yards of concrete, Shasta will take 5,700,000 cubic yards. Boulder required 4,360,000 cubic yards.

560 Foot Wall
Revised plans for Shasta call for a wall approximately 560 feet high. Behind the dam a storage reservoir of 4,500,000 acre feet will range 35 miles or more into the upper Sacramento river canyon 13 miles from Redding. Previously, the dam's storage capacity was set tentatively at 3,000,000 acre feet of water from the Pit, McCloud and Sacramento rivers.

Although it will not be as high as Boulder's 727 feet, it will surpass Grand Coulee's crest elevation of 553 feet.

Revised details of the dam's design were revealed by Walker R. Young, bureau of reclamation construction engineer for Boulder dam and for the Central Valley project.

The Chabon dam in France, 450 feet high, is the nearest approach in size to these three western giants, he said. Hetch Hetchy in Yosemite National park, San Francisco's principal source of water supply, recently raised to 427 feet is next, with the bureau's Owyhee dam in eastern Oregon, 417 feet, following in order.

Vast Picture as to Size Concrete to be used in Shasta dam, he said, would build a solid monument a city block square and as high as the Empire State building in New York City. A freight train more than 200 miles long would be required to haul all the cement and there will be sufficient water in the Shasta reservoir to cover the entire city of Chicago to a depth of 35 feet.

Shasta's power plants will generate approximately a billion and a half kilowatt hours each year.

APRONS

Pattern 4657

Take your pick or make them both. you'll find plenty of uses for two of these simple-to-make aprons. See what a nice flare there is in the skirt section and how far around back the apron goes. that's for protection. The apron fits beautifully at the waist and is cut all in one piece from the yoke down. One yoke flares becomingly over the shoulder and the other follows straight tailored lines. Whether you make a U or V neck, the apron sets well and won't slip off the shoulders. Ric-rac or button trimming may be used on either.

Pattern 4657 is available in sizes small, medium and large. Small size apron A, takes 2 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric and 3 yards ruffling; B, 2 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 4 1/2 yards ric-rac braid. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions.

PUT TELESCOPE IN LARGE DOME

Turret Atop Mt. Palomar
Will Contain 850
Tons of Steel

MT. PALOMAR, Cal.—The huge revolving dome which will house the world's largest telescope, in the $3,000,000 California Institution of Technology observatory atop this 6,000-foot mountain, will be completed by Christmas eve, engineers said today.

Over the $1,000,000 "highway to the stars," huge trucks roar daily up the grades carrying tons of steel plates which will form the 135-foot dome.

These plates, weighing one ton each, are 7 feet in width and 21 feet in length. In all, a total of 850 plates, or 850 tons of steel will be represented in the completed dome.

Already the base structure of the observatory has been completed, and the circular track on which the dome will revolve is in place, after having been ground to mirror-smoothness by engineers who labored throughout last winter unmindful of rain, sleet and snow.

Search for Peak Began in 1930

It was just seven years ago, Capt. Clyde McDowell, U. S. N., retired, supervising engineer, recalled that scientists first began the search for a mountain-top suitable for location of the observatory which will be 70 per cent complete before the first of 1938.

Today in the optical shop on the Tech campus at Pasadena, 200 yards from the astrophysical laboratory, skilled workers are grinding the 200-inch mirror, from which 2 inches of pyrex has been painstakingly whittled in 18 months.

Early this month even members of the observatory council were excluded from the cork-lined thermostatic controlled grinding room where the 20-ton piece of glass is being ground—it was explained that even the smallest particle of hard dust might ruin the mirror.

Through a thick window, from a corridor, scientists may look at the grinding process of the $1,000,000 mirror, which, Dr. George Ellery Hale, known as the father of the 200-inch mirror, said may settle for all time the question of whether the universe is in the process of expanding.

Science believes it will be on the threshold of a new era of discovery when the mirror finally is in place and the observatory ready for operation in 1940.

Universe May Yield Secret

Among the questions science hopes the giant telescope will answer is that of whether the universe is limited by the curvature of space. The new telescope, which will enable science to bring to light for the first time objects so many light years distant from the earth that they are beyond the comprehension of any mind except that of an astronomer.

About March 1, from the plant of the Westinghouse Co., in Philadelphia, will be shipped the rotating cage which will be synchronized with the rotation of the earth. Other electrical equipment, almost magical in its operation, also is to be installed, including a dialing system and exchange which will be used in aiming the telescope.

COLLEGE TAKES 22-STORY HOME

Cleveland School to Move Into Skyscraper In February

CLEVELAND — Penn. college, Cleveland's "fairy-tale" institution of learning, in February will move into its new downtown home, a gorgeous 22-story building which never has been occupied.

The structure rivals the skyscraper homes of the University of Pittsburgh and Northwestern University's downtown college in Chicago.

It was built in 1930 by the Prudential Corp. at a cost of $2,000,000. Originally it was intended as a bank for wealthy yachtsmen. However, during the depression, however, caused abandonment of the site plans and the building was taken over by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Penn. trustees purchased it at a federal auction for $250,000. A total of $450,000 will be expended for back taxes and remodeling before the college moves into its new home.

The new home supplies the climax in the fairy-tale-like rise of the school.

Founded in 1881 as a small educational unit of the Cleveland M. C. A., it employed a co-operative plan, dedicating itself to the large number of young men and women who were unable to attend college due to lack of money.

Three small buildings in downtown Cleveland were purchased to accommodate increasing enrollment. Under the co-operative plan, students after their freshman year were given employment six months out of the year. Aside from financial aid, the work provided practical experience for students enrolled in the engineering, business administration and liberal arts program offered by the college.

The college's new home will be divided into three sections—administration and classroom, gymnasium and dormitory.

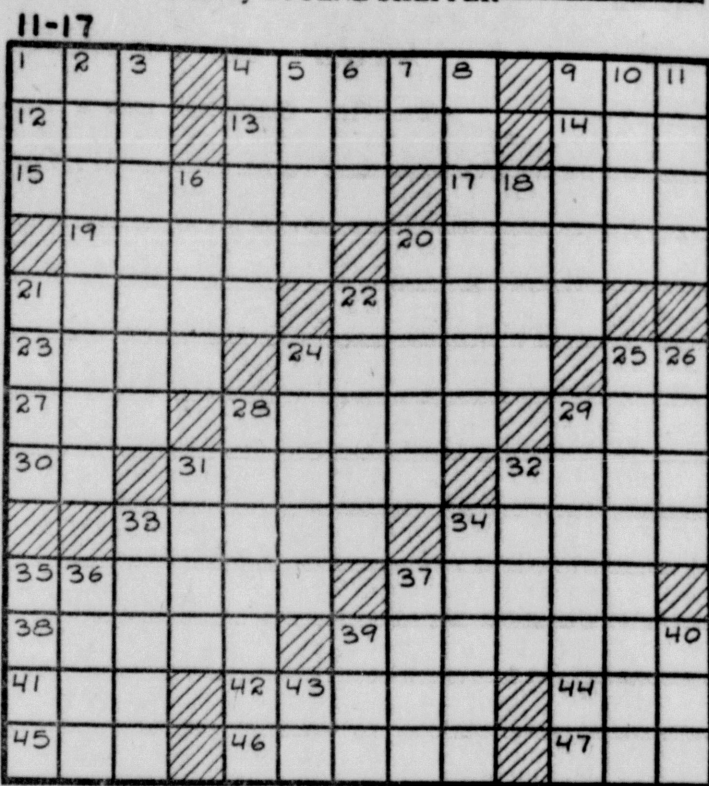

The first seven floors will be remedied into administration offices and classrooms. The second two will house a large gymnasium, a regulation 75-foot swimming pool and other athletic equipment.

Remaining floors will provide dormitory quarters for 250 students.

JOHANNESBURG — Johannesburg now has a police station on wheels, complete with radio, first-aid kit, rope ladders, fire-fighting equipment, and a small cell to accommodate any wrong-doers caught.

Cost Of Living In Britain Much Lower Than In U.S.

By International News Service
LONDON—A survey today showing that it costs ten dollars a week to support a family of four in England than it does in America.

A country-wide poll by British news-magazine revealed the average Briton requires a considerably smaller income than the average American. Most of those interviewed estimated a family of four could live on $20 a week.

A recent poll in America set the figure at $30 a week.

People under 30 years of age found this question harder to answer than people over 30, and men found it more difficult than women in arriving at an estimate.

Small Figure Surprising
The lowness of the estimate is amazing in view of the tremendous taxation in Great Britain when in direct and indirect taxation, the government takes $2.50 out of every $5.00 earned.

A wage earner must pay out $1.25 in income tax on every $5.00 earned, although a bachelor earning less than $650 a year is tax exempt. A married man is allowed $350 unassessable for a wife, the same amount for his first child, and $125 for each of his other children.

Supporters of the Conservative Party in power, interviewed in the poll, were inclined to show a more reticent attitude to the taxes imposed on them than did the Opposition supporters, and were

Feared Kidnaped

John R. Nyhoff, 23, member of a socially prominent Troy, N. Y., family, is pictured above. He disappeared from his home December 2, after he had started for his office. His father fears the young man, who himself is the father of a 2-year-old daughter, has been the victim of foul play.

SINGAPORE — It took 17 members of a film company to save Zoltan Kegl, a sound expert, when he was attacked by a huge python which was playing in a scene of a jungle film being made at Jurong Malaya, near here.

MODEL VILLAGE FLOURISHES ON RIM OF DESERT

Trona, Cal., Becomes One of World's Greatest Potash Centers

BAKERSFIELD, Cal.—Erection of a modern city on a desert waste-lands which produce one-fourth of all the potash consumed by the American farmer and nearly half the nation's total production of the important fertilizer base is being studied by a Senate sub-committee investigating public lands and natural resources.

The $20,000,000 desert plant of the American Potash & Chemical company is located at Trona, Cal., along the arid shores of a salt-water lake on the edge of Death Valley.

Sens. Key Pittman, Nev., and Alva Adams, Colo., headed a recent tour of the vast enterprise and saw the transformation of a lake into life-giving potash, borax, soda ash and sodium products. Sens. Henry Ashurst, Ariz., and Carl A. Hatch, N. M., were unable to visit the plant but conferred later with Pittman and Adams in Washington.

Town Most Up-To-Date

One of the remarkable features of the 17-year development program is the city for 1,000 workers. Many miles from the nearest habitation, Trona is notable for modern schools, stores, library, playgrounds, recreation halls, music studios, model homes and paved streets.

Company officials say that potash should not be classed as an important factor in munitions manufacturing and emphasize its peace-time benefits. They declare that modern methods of recovering the mineral do not deplete the natural resources of the country.

The vast deposits are of no value until the brine has gone through a maze of machinery. The brine is treated by removing the salts and the liquid is pumped back into the lake, where it again dissolves more of the minerals stored in the 80-foot crust over the top of the lake for 50 square miles.

Price Drastically Cut

Chief advantage of the American plant is the tremendous reduction in cost passed on to the American farmer. During the World War, the supply of German potash was cut off and the price skyrocketed to about $470 a ton in 1917. The price now is about $30 a ton, making the cost to the farmer about 7 cents an acre in potash ingredient for fertilizer. Prices of other chemicals have been reduced in proportion.

The government granted mining patents to the company in 1918-1920 for about 3,320 acres of the desert lake. At that time, no one predicted that such a vast plant would ever materialize and be such a factor in the world's potash supply.

The 1,000 men work three shifts daily to turn out the tremendous potash supply and the 24-hour output of 560 tons of borax, soda ash and sodium products.

The senate committee revealed its function was "to study rather than investigate" the amazing story of how the United States is becoming independent of the rest of the world for its potash supply.

PUEBLO, Colo. — Roasted and stewed rattlesnake was the piece de resistance at a dinner here celebrating the slaughter of 208 rattlesnakes by three Pueblans. The snake skins were used to make hat bands, belts and lamp shades, while the vertebrae furnished material for necklaces.

CAPE TOWN—A youth was shot by a dog while motoring in the country near here. The dog, scrambling about the car, stepped on the trigger of a loaded and cocked saxon rifle, which went off and wounded one of the party.

FARGO, N. D.—Control of noxious weeds is becoming a national problem worthy of federal support, according to farm leaders who answered a questionnaire sent out by the national weed committee.

LONDON — Judges at the first British Empire bottled beer competitions had to sample 7,000 bottles entered by home and overseas breweries before deciding the winners. In the overseas class, the gold medal was won by the Riedle Brewery, Limited, of Winnipeg, while Northern Clubs Federation Brewery of Newcastle-on-Tyne carried off the silver challenge cup.

CROSBY LEADS AS FILMDOM'S RACING FIGURE

Other Large Stable Owners Are Raoul Walsh and Joe Brown

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9. — In four quick years the racing fever has afflicted a large percentage of Hollywood's film personalities.
More than two dozen actors, directors and executives now own collections of armadillos which they grace with the title of racing stables.

Bing Crosby, who owns a piece of at least half the sporting ventures in the vicinity, has drawn far in front of the field as No. 1 horseman. From the single specimen, Khyvan, which he claimed on a sudden impulse one afternoon, the Crosby stable has grown to large proportions. The crooner-actor's interest in the sport has followed suit.

Crosby now owns a pair of top 2-year-olds in Rocco and High Strike, the latter winner of a recent stake at Bay Meadows. He shares with Lyn Howard, a polo player, Sabueso, which has been imported from the Argentine for the Santa Anita Handicap, and additionally pays the feed bill for Stroll On, Dash Thrn, Fight
On, Aunt Kitty, Double Trouble, and four crack yearlings, all foaled at his breeding farm
at Rancho Santa Fe.

Crosby also is president of the Del Mar Turf club, which operates Del Mar track near San Diego, and also holds stock in Santa Anita park.

Second most prominent owner is Raoul Walsh, a director who popularized the French breeds through Grand Manitou a year ago. Walsh has brought over two more French thoroughbreds, Prexo and Industry, and the Irish racer Bachelor's Bowler to team with Sunset Trail II. Other Walsh horses are Barbara Coast II, Por-lezza and Acupulla, now en route here from New York.

Joe E. Brown, he of the large mouth and larger yell—even if his entry runs last—also has discovered an Argentine challenger for the Santa Anita Handicap, namely Cascabelito. At the moment the railbirds are wagering 3-1 that the Brown yell fades on the fourth syllable. Stablemates are Maori Princess, Pre, Kay Em Bee, Kath, Battling Kate, Barnsley, Mep, Supply Man and Swift Gal.

An unique team is the Chico Max-Barbara Staweyk combination, which is developing the Marwick Ranch. Present occupants are Granny's Trade, Mileetta and Revellie Boy, all of doubtful running ability but strong for publicity. Myron Selznick has scored several stake victories with Pasha and Can't Wait, and Al Jo-sen recently picked a color scheme to be carried by Totem Pole and two others.

Robert Riskin, screen writer,
has purchased Iksome and Thistle Air. Spencer Tracy has two yearlings in training. One-horse stable proprietors are roly-poly Oliver Hardy, John Cromwell, Harry Cohn, Alma Lloyd, and William LeBaron. At least a dozen others are falling into line, several of them ordering yearlings from the Crosby ranch.

Additionally, the Del Mar Turf club is composed almost exclusively of Hollywood names—and financed by Hollywood money. The Los Angeles Turf club, operator of Santa Anita, continues on its original half-and-half basis: part movie names and money, and part business names and money.

WEST HARTFORD, Conn.—Although 125 years have elapsed since historian of the United States Daughters of 1812.

PRO GRID GAME STEPS FORWARD DURING SEASON

Game Has Passed Rough And Ready Stage In New Era

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The ram-paging Washington Redskins, who play the Chicago Bears Sunday at Chicago for the National Professional Football title, offer a striking example of the new order in the money game, as distinguished from the rough and ready days ago.

Mostly they're just youngsters, in there to enjoy a little more football and make themselves a quick stake before embarking on a business career. They're still full of the old college fight and enthusiasm.

There's been a great change in the last few years," says their coach, Ray Flaherty. "I would rather coach this bunch of fellows than any college team in the country. They are smart, there isn't a swelled head in the bunch, and they have spirit. Some of the old-timers used to be trouble makers. There's no room for them any more."

The Redskins have out-grown fist fighting on the field. In the heat of last Sunday's game here, in which the Washingtons routed the Giants, 49 to 14, for the eastern league title, Les Olson, big Red-skin guard, caught a fist smack in his mouth. The blow loosened a half-dozen teeth, and he was raging. He didn't know who had cracked him, though, and he couldn't find out.

"Sure, I saw this guy clout him," admitted the huge "Turk" Edwards, captain of the Redskins, later. "But I wouldn't tell him who it was. Les would have tried to kill him and get kicked out of the game. We couldn't afford to lose him right then, because he was opening up some important holes for our defense to run through."

The social tone of the money game has risen remarkably, too. The Redskins stayed at the Westchester club near Rye, N. Y., on their last visit here, and that isn't exactly a fight camp. There was a sign inside Sammy Baugh's comfortable little room pointing out that it could be taken on a monthly basis at the bargain rate of $350.

They're a quiet crew off the field, and manfully.

Even the methods of hazing newcomers to the league squads have been gentled down. Nothing rough; just sufficient to let the incoming All-Americans know they aren't campus heroes any longer.

A favorite method is to make the freshmen on the payroll get up before the entire team every few nights and sing or recite.

BAUGH OBJECT OF BEAR PLAN

Chicago Pros Will Try To Stop Redskins Passing Ace

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—"Bottling up" maneuvers to stop the Washington Redskins' sensational forward passer, Slimmy Baugh, will be the Chicago Bears' major task when they battle the easterners for the National Professional Football championship at Wrigley field Sunday.

George Halas, coaching genius and owner of the Bears, is basing his strategy on a belief that if Baugh's passes are checked Washington's offense also will be checked. He also figures Cliff Battles, rated as the greatest running back in the National league for at least five years, will be stopped if Baugh's passes aren't clicking.

The Bears' mentor believes the best defense against forward passes lies not so much in alert covering by defending backs as in rushing the passer. No forward passer, Halas says, is quite so effective when he sees two or three big chargers bearing down on him at top speed, ready to knock his blockers off the instant they connect. And the forward passer is even less effective after he has been knocked down a few times, Halas opined today in blistering Halas notes.

Baugh and his Redskin team-near zero temperature to complete training. Coach Red Flaherty planned to hustle the 26 players out for a workout this afternoon.

Carr May Retire Due To Sickness

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Joe Carr, Columbus, president of the National Professional Football league, may be forced by illness to relinquish the presidency of the organization he founded 17 years ago.

That was the unconfirmed report in professional football circles today. Carr is recuperating from an illness that incapacitated him early in the season and seriously affected his heart. Carl Stork, also of Columbus, vice president of the league, is assuming Carr's duties.

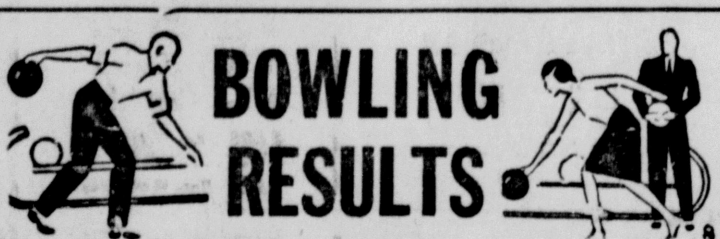

The club owners will meet here Saturday to draft the 1938 college football stars for next season.

Walker Signs With White Sox

One of the major mid-winter transactions in the major leagues was formally sealed when Gerald Walker, left, former star left fielder of the Detroit Tigers, signed a contract with the White Sox in Chicago, above, in the presence of Jimmy Dykes, manager, and J. Louis Comiskey, right, club owner, calling for a reported salary of $15,000 for the coming season.

The Elks No. 2 and A. A. teams remained in a tie for first place in the Masonic Ladies bowling league at the Masonic temple last night as both won two out of three games in their respective matches.

The Elks No. 2 quintet won its games from Mullins, while the A. A. five gained its wins over the Ohio Edison. The Salem News won two out of three from Elks No. 1 and Kresges' won two out of three from the Electric Furnace in other matches.

Miss Stella Smith of the A. A. A's turned in a 536 three-game score to tie the league record set by Mrs. Ruth Hine. Miss Smith rolled games of 179, 191 and 165.

Only two matches were bowled in the Pastime league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night. These two saw the Stillicious Chocolates take two games from the Citizens Ice & Coal and the O. E. Electric Shop win two from Loudon V-8's of Hanoverton.

In a special match at the Recreation alleys, Mullins Die Room defeated the Salem Junior Saxons, 2433 to 2305.

STIGMA OF '29 IN ROSE BOWL ROUSES BEARS

Last Pasadena Game Lost When Roy Riegels Ran Wrong Way

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Now that it is certain University of California's Golden Bears and Alabama are going to play in the Rose Bowl New Year's day, the fact recalls the story of Roy Riegels, the man who ran the wrong way. It happened Jan. 1, 1929, the last time the Bears were in the Rose Bowl.

The Riegels tale is one that Pacific coast football fans never tire of telling. It has become a legend, the legend of a great player who made a colossal mistake in a colossal football game, yet came back to prove he still was a great player.

Riegels, a good-looking husky, was center and captain of the 1928 University of California team. He led the bears through a successful season and the Pasadena Rose tournament committee picked the Bears to play in the Rose Bowl.

Riegels, because of his ability for team leadership, his vicious tackling and talent for backing the line, was mentioned as possible all-America pivot man that year. The other candidate was Peter Pund, Georgia Tech's center.

California chose Georgia Tech as its eastern opponent at Pasadena. The game was a sell-out, and the sports writers stressed the angle of a battle between two all-America centers, Riegels and Pund.

California appeared the better team. The Bears gained consistently through the Tech line, and scored a touchdown and conversion in the first period. Then the football imp of fate took charge.

Georgia Tech's Stumpy Thomason, fumbled on his own 35-yard line late in the second period. A wild scramble of 20 players, diving after the bounding ball—and out of the melee came Riegels, running toward his own goal line, with the ball under his arm.

Seventy thousand spectators, pop-eyed, unbelieving, delirious, set up a shrill scream. California rosters screamed "come back, come back—you're running the wrong way!" Georgia Tech players halted in their tracks, stared at the galloping California center, then gave chase, as did 19 California players.

Penny Lion, California's best ball carrier, was nearest Riegels. Lion tried to bring Riegels down from behind before he crossed his own goal line. Let Riegels tell the rest of it.

"I realized somebody was chasing me and yelling at me, and finally, out of all the shouting, I recognized that it was Benny, and that he was yelling that I was running the wrong way. I thought he was crazy."

"I got near the goal line, and Benny was yelling for me to throw him the ball. I was going to throw him the ball after that run. I stood there, right at the goal line, trying to figure which one of us was crazy, and the next thing I knew I was tackled and the whole Georgia Tech team was on top of me."

California got the ball on the second play. Lion tried to kick out but the punt was blocked and Georgia Tech got a safety—two points that subsequently proved the margin of victory, for the Techs later got a touchdown. Final score, 8-7.

But that blunder didn't finish Riegels that day. He came back in the second half and played the best half of his career. He scored a touchdown and a field goal, and he was a man inspired. When the all-America reports were in later, opinion was divided between Pund and Riegels.

"Riegels, now a high school coach, says: 'I still think I ran the right way, but so many people disagree with me that I won't argue about it. Shucks, after all they'll never hold it against you if you boot one when you're trying.'"

O'NEILL SIGNED AS BISON PILOT

Former Tribe Manager To Lead Buffalo Ball Club

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Steve O'Neill, former manager of the Cleveland Indians, became today the field and business manager of Buffalo's International Baseball league club at a salary in "five figures."

The one-time stellar major league catcher, who was replaced by Oscar Vitt recently as the Tribe's skipper, signed a two-year contract last night for his fourth managerial berth in organized baseball.

John Gehm, Bisons' president, announced O'Neill had signed but did not disclose terms of the contract other than that it places O'Neill in charge for two years at an annual salary in "five figures."

The aggressive Irishman succeeds Ray Schalk, field manager, and Leo T. Miller, business manager, who resigned several weeks ago. O'Neill confided that he had held in abeyance an offer to become a Cleveland scout pending negotiations with executives of the Buffalo club.

The new pilot declined to discuss his plans until, he said, he familiarizes himself with the Buffalo situation.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Cauliflower alley: something may happen when Max Schmeling and Harry Thomas meet Monday night. Thomas is strong and he can take a punch. And smart fight men are not forgetting that since Max was last seen in the ring Thomas has had 15 fisticuffs and 84 rounds of boxing. Buddy Baer hit him yesterday and holed in at Mme. Bey's Summit, N. J. camp to train for Eddie Hogan December 17. The cottage Schmeling lives in at Summit once was used as the town house.

Chicago aftermath: Luke Appling was around telling everyone he jumped out of his car and captured a fox by the tail has named said fox after Luke Sewell. Looks like the Yanks have made up their minds to get rid of Fat Old Hubber Malone. Joe McCarthy has feellers out for the fat pitcher. Oscar Vitt, New Cleveland manager, is stealing Casey Stengel's thunder as baseball's talking champion. The howl about Gerald Walker in Detroit has scared Jimmy Dykes off from a plan to trade Zeke Bonura. "If I do, I'll be afraid to eat spaghetti around Chicago," he said.

Sports cocktail: The newly wedded Barney Ross will move from Chicago to New York. Time Supply, the only boss now in training to run in all three $100,000 Santa Anita handicaps, is training for his fourth and final try. George Earnshaw, the old big league pitcher, has got a job coaching baseball in Venezuela.

1,699 residents of Stowe village, Vermont's ski center, had shared equally in the profits from last winter's sports, they would have received approximately $50 apiece. There is a chance Australia won't try for the Davis cup next year. Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath are among those advocating a change that would make the classic a biennial affair.

Schmeling Is First Boxer To Be Subject Of Pickets

Anti-Nazi League Boycotts Schmeling's Bout With Harry Thomas at Garden, Dec. 13

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Fighters have been denounced in many languages and by varied methods, but for the first time in the history of the racket pickets are in action against one of the boys, the same being Max Schmeling.

The pickets represent the organization taken in by the comprehensive title of Anti-Nazi League to Champion Human Rights and their picketing, in front of the offices of Promoter Mike Jacobs at the Hippodrome, is directed specifically at Schmeling's bout with Harry Thomas, of Chicago, at Madison Square Garden on Dec. 13.

While the actual picketing is brand new it long has been threatened. To carry out a boycott against the German boxer Schmeling. In fact, the Anti-Nazi league insists it is not after Schmeling personally. The fight is directed against Nazi Germany, and they don't want Schmeling to take any American money over there.

Still, it is Schmeling who is taking the belting around in the event the league manages to kill him off as a challenger. That one fight alone with Louis would be worth a few bobs, and if he should win, his potentialities could be figured as being up in the very, very serious money.

CINCY CAGERS START ON TOP

Defeat Georgetown In Opener; Ohio U. Is Winner, 54-47

(By Associated Press)

The University of Cincinnati's 16-game basketball schedule was opened today with an easy 44-to-34 victory over Georgetown college of Kentucky on the boards.

Ed Jucker and Bob Biedenbender contributed an even dozen points apiece as the Bearcats moved down their neighboring state rivals last night at Cincinnati.

Five times the count was knotted in a shuttle cage contest between Alfred Holbrook and Morehead (Ky.) colleges at Manchester—but the invading quintet need not the Ohioans by a 3-point margin, 21 to 28. Holbrook's captain, Robert James, chalked up an individual total of 17 points.

Ohio university's Bobcats, on the home floor at Athens, turned on the pressure in the last half to vanquish a determined contingent from Bliss college of Columbus, 54 to 47. Bliss took an early lead, but Ohio led at the half, 21 to 19. The Bobcats' big guns, were George Hood and Gene Rinta who looped 19 and 17 units, respectively.

Reserve university's cagers opened their season with a 56-to-44 victory over an Alumni team. Wayne Sidinger looped 16 points and Dusky Frank Kelker 14 to lead the Red Cats, whose intercollegiate schedule will open Saturday against Findlay.

RED SOX SPEND MOST MONEY IN TRADING DEALS

Purchase San Diego Outfielder For Cash And 2 Players

BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—If anyone insisted on awarding a "money spending" blue ribbon for activity during the 1937 major leagues baseball meetings, it would have to be pinned on the gutted, Boston Red Sox.

The Red Sox, or rather owner Tom Yawkey, know how to spend the shekels much faster than their deals during one of the duller "ivory markets" in recent seasons would indicate. But what they accomplished looked big in contrast with the inactivity of a majority of other clubs.

They obtained young Ted Williams, an outfield star, from San Diego for two players and cash. The New York Yankees offered $35,000 for Williams, so it can be assumed that Yawkey "laid it on the line" for the west coast youth. The Red Sox let Oscar Melillo go to the Browns as a coach and participated in one of the three strictly all-major deals of both the minor and major assemblies, sending outfielder Buster Mills, infielder Ralph Kress and Pitcher Buck Newsum to the St. Louis Browns for Outfielder Joe Vosmik.

With not a single deal being made by either league at the major sessions, the fans will have to go back to the minor league gathering at Milwaukee for most of their "hot stove" topics this winter. Detroit and Chicago pulled the biggest transaction, with Chicago sending Pitcher Vern Kennedy, Outfielder Dixie Walker, and Infielder Tony Piet to Detroit for Outfielder Gerald Walker, Infielder Marvin Owen and Catcher Mike Tresh.

The majors failed to see eye to eye as to the type of ball to be used and in yesterday's final and joint meeting refused to reopen discussions. The American league will continue to use the same ball as it has for many years, the fast or "rabbit" spheroid. The Nationals will go back to the slower and heavier ball favored by pitchers.

The National circuit re-elected Ford Frick president for three years, and renewed an agreement permitting Cincinnati to play seven night games next season. The junior circuit, in which the term of President William Harridge still has a year to run, turned down Cleveland's application for night ball.

"Beauty's A Charm" by HARRIET HINSDALE

CHAPTER XXIII

The camp consisted of commodious tents with board floors, and a central mess hall. The caravan of five cars which left Hollywood in the early morning had had an all day journey, most of it over good roads. But the last fifty miles was mountain going of the roughest sort. The lights of the little village were welcome sight after the long, wearisome journey.

Four cars straggled in during the course of an hour but the fifth had failed to show up even when the delayed dinner was past. In it were Pearl and two other women members of the company, with the driver. Preston began to be worried, not only for their safety but because of the fact that without them the scenes scheduled for early to-morrow morning could not be shot. He sent a work truck back down the road, completely equipped to do whatever salvaging might be necessary, and carrying hot food and drinks. If the delayed car could not be moved that night, its passengers would be brought back in the other one. Lucy Lee instead of going to bed early as did most of the other travel-wear players, decided to wait up for Pearl.

Wrapped in a warm coat against the chill of the night, she walked to the edge of the camp clearing and stood looking out over the lake at her feet. Its edge was rocky and precipitous, with a drop of some distance to the water. All about was fragrant darkness, sweet with the aromatic odors of giant evergreens and murmurous with the sound of softly lapping waters. As she looked up and through the interlaced boughs there was the glitter of stars which might have been not much farther away than the tree tops themselves, so big and bright were they.

Everywhere peace, beauty and enchantment. In the far, far distance the faint night call of some wild animal prowling the blackness of the forest. There came the crackling of twigs underfoot and she turned quickly, startled out of her rapt contemplation. "It's Neville," a voice came out of the darkness. "What are you doing here all alone—star gazing?" Before she could reply his arms were about her, his lips seeking her mouth in a long, breathless kiss. No words, only this close embrace as he helped her slender, unresisting body pressed to his. He kissed her many times, wordlessly, hungrily, with increasing fervor.... until at last she drew away but remained still within the circle of his arms, staring at the face which was only a dim blur in the shadows.

"Neville," she whispered. Then again, more softly: "Neville...." "You do love me.... want me?" he murmured in a voice thick with emotion. "Let me hear you say it."

"Of course, Neville. I.... love you...." "Oh God," he said as a sudden, uncontrollable shudder shook him. "I don't know why we've waited so long! Only.... I wasn't quite sure. You're so cool.... so.... remote. I couldn't quite decide." He laughed, on a short, high note. "And then Pearl has always been so damned watchful. Or perhaps I needed to be just a little bit drunk."

He laughed again. "I am, you know.... intoxicated.... but not only on liquor.... I've wanted you ever since that night I first held you. Remember?"

She nodded.... slowly.... trying to see his face. This was not exactly as she had dreamed it would be. "Yes, of course I remember. I was so frightened I fainted."

"Not frightened now are you, little sweetheart? Of course not. And tonight.... a little later.... when the camp is quiet.... I'll come to you...." What was he saying? Her heart began to beat unevenly. She felt choked and put her hand to her throat. "I don't think—I understand, Neville."

Again that queer, short laugh. "Oh yes, you do, loveliest." He kissed her again, more fiercely, keeping his mouth on hers until she pushed him away.

"I thought you were asking me to marry you," she whispered. "My dear child, why spoil this glorious hour by dragging in the silly old conventions? We love each other.... we're here in the wilderness where it's easy to be one's natural self.... and you're going to belong to me. Tonight—"

"Oh, but I couldn't!"

"Little coward," he murmured gently, drawing her close again. "It's your conventionality, your fears, that are holding you back in everything. Don't you understand? How can you ever expect to be a real actress.... to express emotions.... if you've never felt them? Let me teach you what it is really to love. Its life's greatest experience."

"Oh, Neville." She was close to tears, trembling. "I—I can't...." "If I will make you feel any happier, I may as well tell you the truth, Lucy Lee. Marriage is out of the question because I have a wife in England. Haven't seen her in years, but she won't divorce me."

He was silent for a long moment, then his tone was cold, impersonal. "But of course if you don't care enough—there's nothing more to be said." He released her and turned away.

"No, no, Neville.... I can't let you go. I do love you—" She clutched at his arm, clinging to him in a storm of bewildered emotion. "Ah—"

Masculine triumph in his voice.... surrender in hers. Another kiss.... and the night enfolding them in its sweet sorcery. Presently from the other side of the camp there came the sound of motors and a loud hail from approaching cars. The rescue party had returned. Preston and Lucy Lee came back to reality and hurried to meet the incoming automobiles.

Pearl and the other two women were tired and annoyed at the long delay, due to engine trouble which their driver had been unable to locate. The others went immediately to their tents but Pearl asked Preston if he didn't have a drink to offer a half frozen lady who had spent hours on a cold, windy mountainside?

"Of course," Preston replied, leading the way to the dining tent where, in addition to the tables and benches, there was a radio to furnish entertainment and news of the outside world. Also there was a small cabinet well stocked with liquor.

"Let's see what's on at the Grove," Pearl said, turning the dial. "Or wait—here's the Florentine Room." She was in a better humor already, smiling at Preston as he poured generous drinks. "Hi.... this is hot! Want to dance?"

"Not tonight, Adrienne," Preston answered. "Here's your night cap. Better turn in and get some sleep. Six o'clock call in the morning, you know."

As Pearl took the extended glass, the dance music stopped and the voice of the announcer came over the air. "Owing to the hundreds of inquiries coming to the station, asking for news of the missing Bruce Loring airplane, we have the following announcement to make. No word has come from the famous star since his last radio message of more than twelve hours ago off the coast of Mexico. If or when any such message is received our listeners may rest assured they will be among the first to get it."

"Did you hear that?" exclaimed Pearl. "They say Bruce Loring's plane is lost. I didn't even know he had started."

The announcer's carefully modulated voice was going on.... "The missing ship took off from a local airport carrying the noted actor on a hunting trip to Mexico. He was alone except for his mechanic, Clyde Dixon."

"Clyde is with him," Lucy Lee broke in. "Oh, I do hope nothing has happened!"

"What is all this?" Preston asked, setting down his empty glass. "Who's Clyde Dixon?"

"He's an—an old friend of ours, from home," Lucy Lee replied. "Listen," said Pearl.

"Alarm is felt for the safety of the two men and the studio which has the screen star under contract is sending a search plane from a local field immediately."

"Well, what do you know about that," Pearl said as she finished her drink. "I wonder if anything has really happened to them, or if this is just another publicity gag."

"Probably a gag," Preston replied. "And a pretty good one, too. Funny nobody has thought of it before."

"It doesn't seem as though anything could have happened," Lucy Lee put in anxiously. "They had such a wonderful plane."

"I see. Well, it's nothing to get excited over. Probably their sending apparatus is out of commission, that's all. It has happened even to the Lindberghs, you know."

Pearl yawned and she snapped off the radio. "I can certainly wait till morning for more news. I'm for bed, aren't you?"

They said goodnight and separated, quietly entering their respective tents standing dim and a bit ghostly in the dark tree shadows. No sooner was she inside than Lucy Lee sat down on the camp chair near the entrance, in the dark. She felt weak, shaken. The news about Clyde coming so startlingly over the air had brought her back to a sense of reality, after the madness of Preston's kisses.

Her first thought had been not of Clyde's safety but of what Clyde would think of her.... tomorrow.... if he knew. While Neville had held her close she had forgotten everything else. But now she was wakening as from a spell. Clyde.... her father.... Juddy. As she thought of them, she shivered. Her hands were shaking with nervousness. What should she do? Neville must not come to her tent. Of a sudden she felt ashamed.... sullied. The romance was gone. There was no beauty in this clandestine affair. It became tawdry, an ugly thing cloaking itself in the shadows of night, afraid to face the clear light of day.

Ohio Weather Was Formerly Predicted By Dayton Woman

Mrs. E. L. Boyer, 80, Was State's First And Only "Weatherwoman"; No Predictions Today

DAYTON—It was a "weatherwoman", not a weatherman, who made forecasts in the earlier days of Ohio. She was Mrs. E. L. Boyer of Dayton.

Now 80 years old, Mrs. Boyer became interested in scientific studies while enrolled at Ohio State university. So complete was her knowledge that when Prof. T. C. Mendenhall, famed physicist, started the Ohio meteorological bureau in 1882, he placed Mrs. Boyer in charge.

"It was a boon, especially to the farmers," said Mrs. Boyer. "Before the bureau opened there was no accurate or scientific means of forecasting conditions and disturbances."

Mrs. Boyer recalls vividly the storm of May 12, 1889, when four and one-half inches of rain fell in less than two hours.

"It was accompanied by high winds which destroyed much property," Mrs. Boyer said, "and it was the heaviest rainfall in so short a time on record in Ohio."

Mrs. Boyer also held positions in the United States weather bureau at Columbus, and remained interested in weather work long after her official connection was terminated.

For many years she took her own observations at her home here and found them accurate when checked against federal records. Asked what the weather would be this winter, she replied: "I'd rather not say. I haven't any charts at the present time, and unless I can give a scientific prophecy and not just a guess, I'd better not say anything."

TOURIST CAMPS DO GOOD SIZE BUSINESS NOW

Motor Traffic On Pacific Coast 25 Pct. Greater Than In 1936

SAN FRANCISCO—Tourists driving all day find it's pleasant to pull up at sundown before the gate to an inviting camp. Probably there is a small store near the entrance, and circling back through a grove of trees are cabins. There's a shower, and a swing for the children. The air's good and the trees rustle during the night.

Tourist camps have come to present the foregoing picture to increasing thousands of business and vacation travelers every year. To some 16,000 others, tourist camps mean a business of $25,000,000 annually.

From Maine to California and from Key West to Virginia City, Minn., tourists hardly can miss a comfortable camp. Some are palatial, others are plain. Some are bungalow hotels with every modern convenience, while others offer an unadorned cabin, of the wash bowl and pitcher variety.

Become Big Business
In the far west and Pacific coast states, tourist camps have entered the realm of big business. They have made possible vacations in remote areas which may be reached only by motor and where hotels could not be economically erected. They have given the wayfarer access to the most beautiful areas of the finger-mountain and coast countries.

On the highways in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico the gains in tourist trade have been particularly heavy the past year. Motor travel has increased more than 25 per cent in 1937 over 1936. Tourist camps have sprung up like mushrooms, many far from towns and cities, and situated in forests and beside streams or the rugged Pacific shore.

About 3,700 proprietors of tourist camps sell gasoline and oil. In these camps the traveler may rest, eat and re-fuel before starting on.

Camps Are Regulated
Most states have enacted legislation for thorough supervision of camps as to cleanliness and sanitation. The establishment of chain systems of camps reaching from coast to coast has been underway for some time.

These are generally located at an average day's drive from each other. But independent camps dot the highways, and a motorist usually reaches a suitable one toward the end of a day.

Tourist camps have made possible vacations in desert areas for the vacationist of moderate means. Not long ago the motorist was obliged to hurry through a desert area in order to reach the protection of a town by night. Thus he missed the experience of spending the night in the country, of knowing more familiarly the beauty and character of some strange area.

Observers hesitate to predict what the next few years may bring in the tourist camp business. With the continual building and improvement of highways, the opening of backwoods sections to the motorist, what now is already considered big business may well become a major industry.

MOSCOW—Soviet paleontologists have found on the banks of the Syas river a quantity of well-preserved bones and parts of skeletons of armored fish, which existed during the Devonian system, the Paleozoic era. The bones had lain buried in the earth more than 300,000,000 years.

NEW LONDON, Conn. — When pranksters stole a valuable bronze sundial from the lawn of a local resident, he waited a reasonable time and then inserted an advertisement in a newspaper offering $1 reward for its return. Not morning the sundial was back in its accustomed place, but the reward went unclaimed.

VIENNA—Adolf Bremer, 24, accused of murdering the daughter of an innkeeper, told police that he wanted to commit suicide but, being afraid to do so, he decided to commit the murder instead in order to be hanged.

Accessories for the fashion wise

Simple frocks look smart with sets like these

By MARIE MAROT

IF you are a fashion-wise woman who prefers the simple frocks of good cut and fine fabric, complemented by beautiful accessories, then you should be in your element this season. There are intriguing sets of matched accessories in sequins, in lame and in velvet that should do right by any frock. There are handsome sets with fur touches designed to lend chic to daytime coats, suits and dresses. Here are some of the set ideas for chic just out. At the top is a black net calot with gold sequin band and sheer veil, a sequin handbag, sequin boutonniere, black suede glove with sequin cuff trim and a slipper of black faille with sequin front. This set comes in gold, multi-color or royal blue. With such a set you can easily vary your appearance by wearing different combinations, such as cap, nosegay and gloves, or cap, bag and gloves. In the sketches below, for daytime, we find a glove with fur cuff, suede bag with broad fur panels and a flanged felt hat with fur, the fur in all instances being black Persian lamb. The right accessories are necessary this season.

Out of the Cast by Christmas

Smiling cheerfully, 10-year-old Gloria Barton, who has been in a plaster cast since September, when she was removed from an iron lung, celebrates in prospect her final freedom from the machines which brought her back to life from an attack of infantile paralysis. She will be out of the cast in time to celebrate Christmas. The little girl, who lives in Staten Island, New York City, spent many months in the "lung" before she was placed in a cast.

'STUB' ALLISON WINS COACHING HONORS EARLY

Golden Bears' Mentor, 41,
Is Only 3-Year Man
In Big Time

PASADENA Cal. Dec. 9.—When football laurels are passed around for the 1937 season, many will remember Leonard (Stub) Allison, the young veteran of University of California, who directed the Golden Bears to the Rose Bowl in his third year as coach of a major eleven.

Allison is only 41, a comparative youth who headed the grizzled sages of the gridiron in the race toward the New Year's day classic, the richest plum of the football year. But Allison's rise is no "Rags to Riches" story; it was a slow, steady climb over a period of 25 years in which as participant and instructor, he obtained the necessary athletic experience to call on when his opportunity arrived.

The short, husky coach was perhaps the outstanding athlete in history of Carleton college in Northfield, Minn. From 1913 to 1917 Carleton was undefeated, and during two of those years was known as a "point a minute" eleven. Leonard Allison, end, was one of the prominent reasons for this success. He was named All-Conference end for three successive years and received honorable mention on the All-America. Additionally, he captained the football, basketball and baseball teams.

After graduation he entered the army, where he headed the 88th division football and basketball teams while he rose to second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and commander of an artillery battery. After a year in the air service patrolling the Rhine, he returned in 1919 and took a position as assistant football coach under C. J. Hunt at University of Washington.

His duties there expanded rapidly. He was named head basketball and baseball coach. In his second year the basketball team won a championship and the basketball team toured Japan, winning 43 of 52 games. In 1922 he signed as athletic director and football coach at the University of South Dakota, where he remained until he moved to University of Wisconsin in 1927. At Wisconsin, Allison served as end coach, boxing instructor and assistant athletic director. In 1929 he became line coach and first assistant to Glenn F. Thistlethwaite, and also directed the State American Legion baseball tournament.

Scrambling for His Life

When the Japanese reached Nantao, thousands of Chinese soldiers and civilians crowded into the French concession at Shanghai for safety. Here is a scene of the wild scramble. Note the unarmed Chinese soldier making his way through the barbed wire. Behind him lies safety. On the other side, death from Japanese guns.

Allison came to California in 1931, and was assistant under Nibs Price and "Navy Bill" Ingram until 1935, when he was appointed head football coach. In his first year he lost only one game—to Stanford, Conference champion. Last year the Bears were losing five games while winning six, but were sufficiently impressive at the end of the season to rate advance notice as the team to watch in 1937.

Truth of those notices can be confirmed by the Coast coaches who have watched the Bears pulverize every team in the Conference save Washington, and smash into the Rose Bowl for the first time in eight years and the third time in the University history. The 1937 California team is the fruit of Allison's coaching theories. Crisp blocking, a strong supply of power that is well directed, efficient tackling and passing and superb use of a few fundamental plays are the foundation upon which the team is built. The Bears are not a sensational team to watch. Neither is Allison a colorful personality. But their seasoned abilities—and his as well—are evident in the record of 212 points against 33 in 10 games this season.

SYDNEY—More than 250,000 "lucky charms" are sold every year in New South Wales. "Nine out of ten people in all walks of life are wearers of charms," one dealer said. "They go out of fashion like women's hats, and new charms are manufactured to take their place."

TOLEDO—Street cars are rapidly becoming a thing of the past here. There were 258 street cars in operation here five years ago. Today, 65 are in service. Tricless trolleys and buses are taking their place.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Case No. 35816. The State of Ohio, Columbiana County, ss. In the Probate Court. Joel H. Sharp, Administrator with Will Annexed of the Estate of Ruth Ann Evans, dec'd, vs. Homer Cobbs, et al., defendants.

In pursuance of the order of the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, I will sell at public auction on the premises on Friday, the 10th day of December, 1937, commencing at 2 o'clock P. M. at the First Tract, to-wit: 1083 East State Street, Salem, Ohio, the following described real estate situated in the City of Salem, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio:

FIRST TRACT: Known as and being a part of the Northeast Quarter of Section 6, Township 15, Range 3 in Perry Township, Columbiana County, Ohio; and further known as Lot No. 30 in the Philip Evans' Addition of lots to the City of Salem, Ohio, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning on the North line of West Wilson Street, Salem, Ohio, at the Southwest corner of Lot No. 554; run thence West, along the said North line of West Wilson Street, 254.7 feet but to the Southwest corner of said Lot No. 554 and the Southeast corner of Lot No. 559; thence North, along the West line of said Lot No. 554, a distance of 155 feet to a point; thence East 30 feet to a point; thence North 30 feet to the East line of said Lot No. 554; thence South, along the said East line of Lot No. 554, a distance of 155 feet to the place of beginning.

Said premises is located at 570 West Wilson Street, Salem, Ohio. THIRD TRACT: Known as and being Lot No. 559 Assessor's Addition to the City of Salem, Ohio, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning on the North line of West Wilson Street, Salem, Ohio, at the Southwest corner of Lot No. 554; from said beginning point run North, along the West line of said Lot No. 554 a distance of 137 feet but to the South line of a 15 foot alley; thence West, along the South line of said alley, a distance of 127 feet but to the North line of West Wilson Street, thence East, along the North line of West Wilson Street, a distance of 22 feet but to the place of beginning.

Said premises is located at 605 West Wilson Street, Salem, Ohio. The First Tract is appraised at $2500.00, the Second Tract at $1350.00 and the Third Tract at $800.00. None of them may be sold for less than two-thirds of the appraised value.

Terms of sale are CASH IN HAND. JOEL H. SHARP, Administrator with Will Annexed of the Estate of Ruth Ann Evans, dec'd. J. HOWARD SINCLAIR, Auctioneer. (Published in The Salem News Nov. 11, 18, 26 & Dec. 2, 9)

CONNEAUT—Mrs. Jennie Lyubl, widowed mother of six children, hopes by Christmas to have completed a six-room house she is building solely with her own hands. She began her housing project last summer so the children might play in a big back yard.
